wanted gifts.

Although rates on plane tickets are not usually discounted, most travel agencies do offer packages for student tours. A tour of Europe by train and backpack is the most common way to travel, despite the variety of student tours offered that go by bus.

With Europe topping the list of the most frequented trips, Australia and New Zealand are quickly gaining popularity as vacation spots. Any local travel agency can provide information and brochures on most countries.

If the lure of adventure fails to attract a person, parents may resort to the old standby: money. Although it may lack originality, it never fails to please.

Under the top three choices, gifts start to sound similar to those received after high school graduation. Cross pens, dictionary sets, jewelry, lifetime subscriptions to National Geographic and other equally satisfying presents abound. But with the world in the state it is in, perhaps the money could be used for more important things.
