Whether you enjoy shooting the rapids of Oregon's wildest rivers or learning the fine art of batik painting, the EMU, located in the heart of the University campus, provides information and services to cater to almost every student recreational interest.

The University Outdoor Program, located in the EMU, sponsors backcountry biking, skiing, rafting and hiking trips throughout the academic year. Events include slide shows, a first aid clinic and an annual fall equipment swap. Wednesdays outdoor activity videos are also offered through the program.

In addition, a resource room complete with maps and guidebooks for trip planning is available for student use.

The Craft Center, basement Room 61, offers about 60 classes fall term ranging from ceramics and jewelry making to stained glass and photography.

The hands-on, non-credit courses also include knitting, woodworking and silk screening instruction. Special courses for holiday crafts are also available. The center is open seven days a week and provides open studio and workshop space to students. Those interested are encouraged to stop in and register for the courses early in the quarter.

Students interested in co-ed competitive sports can check out the EMU Club Sports program, in Room 5, offers student-organized and coached baseball, volleyball, soccer, rugby, judo, riflmg and sailing groups.

Martial arts, swimming, skiing and other activities are offered through the program. For a complete list of Club Sports program activities, call

The EMU offers a variety of inexpensive indoor and outdoor activities for students including relaxing canoe trips down the Millrace.

HOW TO BUY TEXTBOOKS AND SAVE MONEY

COME TO THE SMITH FAMILY BOOKSTORE FIRST.

Chances are you will find most of your books at half price.

BRING THE TITLE AND AUTHOR'S NAME.

It might take some time to find your books, but we will be glad to help you look, and the savings are worth the wait.

RETURN BOOKS YOU DO NOT NEED.

If you buy the wrong books or drop a class, you can return the books for a full refund.

SELL YOUR OLD TEXTBOOKS.

After you buy your textbooks, bring in your old books and The Smith Family Bookstore will buy them for a very fair price.
