Perkins Peninsula State Park make this a perfect area for those who don't want to travel very far.

If you feel like traveling west there is, of course, the beautiful Oregon Coast. Florence is about 65 miles west of Eugene and just south of that is the Oregon Dunes National Recreation Area, offering miles of wide open sand dunes for motorcycles, dune buggies and ATVs. To the north are the scenic coastal towns of Waldport, Newport, Lincoln City, Cannon Beach, Seaside and Astoria.

Willamette Pass ski area is on along Highway 58, about an hour and a half's drive from Eugene. Equipment rentals, night skiing and a day lodge are available for all kinds of winter recreation. Mount Bachelor, located 22 miles southwest of Bend, and Hoodoo Ski Bowl northwest of Sisters, also provide ideal winter recreation areas for skiers who don't want to travel very far.

For those who don't have cars or who are having trouble bumming a ride, there are still plenty of scenic areas in town. Alton Baker Park and Skinner Butte Park, both located close to campus along the Willamette River, are excellent places to study, unwind or catch a little sun. They offer a host of paved bike and jogging trails, river access, large grassy areas and a beautiful view of the city atop Skinner Butte.

Hikers will enjoy the trails leading to Spencer Butte on the city's east side and rock climbers can sharpen their skills on the rock face just off the road leading to the top of Skinner Butte.

Various elevated areas around Eugene give hikers pleasant views of the surrounding lands.

Fishermen need not travel far for good fishing in some of the area's local ponds. The Delta Highway ponds, located near Valley River Center off Goodpasture Island Road, and the Highway 99 ponds, off the highway north near Junction City, are stocked through April with trout.

Attending college in Eugene offers an opportunity for students not only to get a quality education, but to take advantage of a truly unique area of the state.
