The Student Health Center provides medical treatment to students at reduced or no cost.

Services maintain well-being

By Carrie Dennett
Emerald Reporter

Starting back to school in the fall means more than registering for classes and buying books.

Sometimes other events pop up in a student's life, such as problems with a landlord or a bad case of the flu, which, left untended, detour even the best-planned class schedule.

Where does a student go if, in the middle of studying for midterms, he or she sprains his or her ankle tripping over three weeks' worth of laundry, or wakes up one morning with a scratchy throat and a fever?

The University of Oregon Student Health Center, at 1590 E. 13th Ave., can treat many ailments and injuries. The Center has a pharmacy, sports medicine clinic, women's clinic and laboratory.

The center also provides mental health care, dental services and health education services.

Because the Health Center is partly funded by student fees, students are not charged for

A LOT GOES INTO THE MAKING OF A BLIZZARD

The one and only Blizzard® flavor treat. We make it rich and thick, so thick you gotta spoon it up. And we blend it with your choice of M & M's® Plain or Peanut Chocolate Candies, a "Butterfinger" Bar, "Heath" Bar, "Reese's" Pieces Candy, "Nerds" Candy, or a "Nestle" Crunch Bar. You can even have cookies, fruit and nuts and more. Try the original Blizzard® flavor treat. A lot goes into making one. So you'll get a lot of enjoyment eating one. Available at your participating Dairy Queen® store.

THE BREEZE FROZEN YOGURT TREAT IS AN OUTRAGEOUS MIX UP.

We start with nonfat, cholesterol-free vanilla frozen yogurt. Add any of our famous Blizzard® flavors. Then blend it all together, fresh for you. The result is an outrageously delicious way to treat yourself right. So stop by a participating Dairy Queen® store and try the Breeze® frozen yogurt treat made with nonfat frozen yogurt.
