Current residency rules allow students who have graduated from Oregon high schools but whose parents live out of state to pay in-state tuition. The current rules also allow residency to be established after six months. Those rules expired June 30.

"About the only impact is on a group of students who came in January and wanted to meet the six-month deadline," said admissions Assistant Director Fred Mohr. "About the same number of students will qualify for residency as before. The impact is very little."

Student who have questions about residency status can contact the office of admissions.

Tiana Tozer

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Oregon donated $5,000 on June 26 in the name of University graduate Tiana Tozer to increase wheelchair accessibility on campus.

At Tozer's request, the money will be used to make restrooms in the EMU wheelchair accessible.

Tozer has used a wheelchair since she was hit by a drunk driver in May 1988. After beginning a statewide campaign against drunk driving, she graduated in June with a bachelor's degree in engineering. She will begin graduate school in the fall at the University of Illinois.

At least one women's and one men's restroom in the EMU will be wheelchair accessible by fall term. Depending on the cost of the work, there may be enough money to remodel more than two restrooms.
