"Women are especially responding to it," Jackson said.
 • At 1:30 p.m., an amendment to the rule concerning University child care centers will be discussed.

Eligibility for employee and community children and deadline for admission of child care applications are the topics to be amended.

• Discussion on rules regarding skateboards and roller skates will be held at 2 p.m.

The proposed amendments would ban the use of skateboards and roller skates anywhere on campus, with a $10 fine for violators and authorization to impound any skateboard used on University property.

• An increase in bicycle fees and fines to comply with existing University operation and registration rules is scheduled to be discussed at 3:30 p.m.

Fine increases include: $35 (from $10) for failure to obey a "Dismount and Walk" sign, $30 (new fine) for failure to equip a bicycle with a lighting device, $30 (from $10) for blocking violations and $20 (from $5) for prohibited parking violations.

• At 4 p.m., enforcement practices concerning unregistered and abandoned bicycles will be discussed, including amendments regarding penalties, citations and fines.

• The hearings will wrap up at 4:30 p.m. with proposed new amendments covering options open to the Coordinator of Student Conduct regarding academic dishonesty and case review.
