Game will be on television

Oregon's football team will appear on live television for the third time this season, via three different networks, when Prime Ticket televises the Oct. 20 game at Autzen Stadium between the Ducks and Arizona State.

Starting time for the game has been moved back from 1 p.m. to 7:07 p.m. so that Prime Ticket can televise the game. This will be the fifth time in two seasons the Ducks will appear on Prime Network.

Last year, Prime Network showed games from Autzen Stadium with California, Arizona and Washington State as well as Oregon's game with Arizona State in Tempe. The Ducks were 4-1 on Prime Network last year.

Earlier this season, Oregon's game with Arizona in Tucson was shown live to the state of Oregon by the Oregon Sports Network, and the Ducks' game two weeks ago with Brigham Young was shown to a split-national television audience by ABC-TV.

The Oregon women's cross country team moved up three spots in this week's NCAA Top 25 cross country poll.

The Ducks were ranked 11th last week, but moved up after an easy win in the Minnesota/GBS Invitational last Saturday in Minneapolis, Minn. Liz Wilson and Stephanie Wessell finished 1-2, respectively, and all five Oregon runners placed in the top 14 as the Ducks easily outdistanced two other Top 25 teams, No. 16 Michigan and No. 19 Iowa State.

Meanwhile, the Oregon men are again ranked ninth in this week's poll.

with daily doubles and it's really starting to pay off."

With a lot of players back from last season, Evans said the play of his veterans was a big asset in the win over the Pilots. Evans also cited the play of left outside fullback Brad Brant as a key factor in the win.

Oregon will be in action Saturday when it hosts Central Oregon Community College at the Southbank Field near Autzen Stadium at 3 p.m. Following that, Oregon hosts Western Oregon State College on Oct. 17 before traveling to a tournament in Bend on Oct. 20-21.
