Brown honored for punt returns in ASU contest

Oregon's Brian Brown has been named the Pacific-10 Conference's special teams player of the week for his role in the Ducks' 27-7 victory over Arizona State last Saturday night.

With the Ducks trailing 7-6 in the third quarter, Brown, a redshirt freshman, returned a punt 86 yards for a touchdown as Oregon took the lead for good in the game.

Brown's return was the first time since 1983 that the Ducks got a punt return for a touchdown in a game when Lew Barnes went 69 yards against UCLA.

Brown had six punt returns in the game for 125 yards and is now eighth nationally in punt return average at 14.67 yards per return. If Brown is able to maintain that average over the course of the season, it would be the third highest punt return average in school history.

For the third time this season, Arizona's Darryl Lewis was named the Pac-10's defensive player of the week.

Lewis led the Wildcats' 35-26 upset over USC last Saturday with two interceptions and four punt returns for 79 yards. Lewis leads both the conference and nation with his seven interceptions this season.

Running back Anthony Wallace of California was the Pac-10's offensive player of the week.

Wallace rushed for 134 yards on 28 carries and had one touchdown to lead the Golden Bears to a 38-31 victory over UCLA. The win over the Bruins was Cal's first in 18 games against UCLA.

For the second straight week, the Pac-10 will have a full slate of conference games this Saturday.

Cal and Washington meet in Seattle in a showdown of the Pac-10's two top teams. Other games find Stanford at Oregon, Washington State at Arizona, USC at Arizona State and Oregon State at UCLA.
