ball up court to Porter who nailed a three-pointer from the corner while being fouled by Lucas, giving him the chance for a rare four-point play and a AIA lead.

But Porter missed the free throw, Bob Fife rejected the follow shot and Mixon was fouled with only four ticks left while trying to get rebounding position.

Mixon calmly sank both shots giving the Ducks a 92-90 lead and setting the stage for the furious finish.

Monson, and everybody else, thought Romar would take the final shot, but he never got the chance.

"We figured they would run Romar off a pick for the last shot," Monson said. "We had Mixon on him and we were even playing a little double team on him."

Romar squeezed through the double team enough to spot an open Porter in the corner. Porter caught the ball, squared up and netted the game-winner over the outstretched hands of a flying Lucas.

Romar, who doubles as the team's point guard and coach, credited the win to overall desire by AIA.

"We never gave up and quit," he said. "We really believe in ourselves."

AIA is a part of the sports ministry of Campus Crusade for Christ. They travel the world playing exhibition games and spreading their personal testimonies of their commitment to Christ.

AIA plays a murderous schedule against some of the nation's top teams year in and year out. Last week, they faced Indiana, Ohio State, Illinois and Michigan in four different cities on consecutive nights.

Two Duck wrestlers take individual titles

Despite missing two-time all-American Dan Vidlak, the Oregon wrestling team was able to place sixth at the Mat Town Open wrestling tournament last weekend in Lock Haven, Pa.

The Ducks scored 73 points despite not entering anyone in two weight classes, including the 118-pound class where Vidlak was sidelined with a knee injury.

Penn State won the team title with 110 points while Syracuse was second with 92½ points. Rider, North Carolina State and Bucknell rounded out the top five.

Oregon got several outstanding individual efforts to help offset the loss of Vidlak. Particularly helpful were Scott Glenn and Curt Strahm, who each won their respective weight classes.

Glenn had five victories to win the 142-pound title over Tim Tothka of Drexel. Glenn defeated Tothka 5-3 in the championship match.

Strahm won the 190-pound weight class with a 12-8 decision over Brian Burns of Bucknell.

Heavyweight Cam Strahm finished second, dropping his title match 11-0 to Sylvester Turkey of North Carolina State. Oregon teammate Rob Stone finished fourth in the 134-pound weight class.

Oregon returns to action this weekend when it travels to Las Vegas for the Las Vegas Invitational tournament.
