IFC reconsiders budgets; greeks select new officers

At its Thursday meeting, the Incidental Fee Committee voted to reconsider a budget request from Students for the Ethical Treatment of Animals. SETA had been granted $802 for 1991-92 at its Nov. 30 budget hearing, but suggestions from the EMU program consultant's office were not taken into consideration at the time the budget was approved. IFC Chairman Mike Colson said.

For instance, the EMU will be getting a new telephone system next year, which will affect budget allocations for phone costs, he said.

SETA's budget will be heard again in February.

The IFC also voted to allow MEChA, the Latino and Chicano student union, to submit its budget although the group missed the 5 p.m. deadline Thursday.

According to IFC Resolution 12, passed earlier this year, any group that misses its budget deadline without making prior arrangements with the IFC will not have its budget heard and will not be funded through incidental fees.

IFC members Freddy Vilches, JoSonja Watson, Armando Morales and Kari Anderson voted to suspend the rules for MEChA, granting the motion the two-thirds vote needed to carry.

Barclay Grayson and Colson voted against the motion to suspend.
