Ducks take four from Huskies

By Robert Weber
Emerald Sports Reporter

Winning four out of 20 matches doesn't work out to be a great percentage, no matter what sport you're playing. Yet, Tom Greider came home from Seattle this weekend thinking 20 percent was just fine.

Greider, who coaches the Oregon women's tennis team, entered the match knowing that his team hadn't won a match from Washington in the last two seasons. He and his team left with four wins against the Huskies and a load of confidence.

"I'm extremely pleased because we won four matches, which is four more than the first two years combined," Greider said. "No one had broken the mystique until now."

"Two years ago, Washington went 48-0, and I was so new that I got sick," Greider added.

Washington State, the third competitor in the Pacific-10 Northern Division, finished the round-robin weekend in the cellar, dropping 16 of 20 matches against the Ducks and all 20 contests with Washington.

Oregon's 20 wins placed them in second place, and Washington maintained top honors with 36 victories.

Freshman Katie Glynn was the only Duck involved in multiple wins against the Huskies. Glynn outlasted Washington's Andrea Pollock at fifth singles 6-4, 3-6, 6-2 before teaming with Tracey Miller to clinch the third doubles flight with a 1-6, 7-5, 6-3 win over Pollock and Susan Cahoon.

Margaret Fraleigh, playing seventh singles, collected another Oregon win over Washington with a three-set triumph against Beth Hutton 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Greider's squad plays at Portland Saturday before concluding its season by hosting both Washington and Washington State in the Pac-10 Duals on April 19-21.

"It's too bad we're getting to the end of the season," Greider said, "because we're really playing well right now."

All-American Strahm wins wrestling MVP

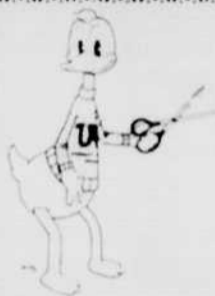

Senior Curt Strahm, who had the fourth-most wins in Oregon wrestling history, was honored Sunday as the team's most valuable wrestler.

Strahm, who was third at last month's NCAA Championships at 190 pounds, was named the winner of the Howard Wicklund Trophy by a vote of his teammates.

Strahm had 30 wins this past season and finished his career with 92 victories. During the season, Strahm won his weight class at both the Oregon Classic and the Mat Town Classic and was the most outstanding wrestler at the Oregon Classic.

Junior Dan Vidlak, who was an all-American at 118 pounds for the second straight season, won the John Miller Award as the team's most dedicated wrestler.

Junior Darren Gustafson and freshman Mat Sprague won the team's other two awards.
