OSPIRG to combat hunger

OSPIRG is sponsoring its seventh annual Hunger Clean-up on Saturday. The group's goal is to get 200 students out to various work sites in the area, such as Food For Lane County and the Family Shelter House, and to raise $3,000 for local charities, Director Peter Drake said.

and universities across the country participate in the event. Last year, a total of about $200,000 was raised, Drake said.

Those who are participating will meet at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the EMU Courtyard where everyone will be divided into groups and taken to a work site.

Grapevine

Participants are asked to enlist the support of as many sponsors as possible, with each sponsor contributing between $20 and $30. Students who are interested are encouraged to stop by the OSPIRG office in EMU Suite 1 and pick up a sponsor sheet.

Half of the money raised will be divided locally between Whitebird and Looking Glass Shelter, and the other half will be given to the National Student Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness. Colleges

One big difference between your credit union and other financial institutions:

U-Lane-O

Other financial institutions

The owners.

When you're a member of our credit union, you're an owner. Because a credit union is a unique financial institution. Not a bank. Not an S&L. In fact, not really here to make money.

And because we're not for profit, you can expect to earn more when you save — and pay less when you borrow.

A recent survey showed that credit union members are the most satisfied users of any financial institution, and the least likely to change financial institutions.

That's logical. When you're one of the owners, you're bound to be more satisfied!

When you're a member, you're an owner.
That's the credit union difference.
