1991 folk festival Sunday

Amber Tide brings down-home sound to the stage Sunday at 2 p.m.

Amber Tide merges visions of gypsy caravans and earthly concerns of love

The unique and entertaining sounds of Amber Tide will fill the air at Main Stage Sunday at 2 p.m.

The acoustic duo, composed of Thaddeus and Sandahbeth Spae, plays folk, jazz, blues and original pieces. They offer a joyous blend of rock and roll energy, down-home humor and coffeehouse intimacy.

By combining vocals with multi-instrumental talents, Amber Tide evokes images of travelers in search of lost cities, of sultry ballads by firelight and jumping jive on a sunny afternoon.

Sandahbeth Spae plays guitar, flute, harmonica, psaltry and percussion, but her primary instrument is her four-octave voice. She was born in Virginia and began performing when she was 13. She has opened for Jerry Lee Lewis.

Thaddeus Spae sings and plays guitar, trombone, mandolin and harmonica. Raised in California, he has performed on Broadway, recorded for the British Broadcasting Corporation and worked with the Flying Karamazov Brothers.

The Spaes were married in 1977 and currently live in the forests southeast of Eugene.

According to Time magazine, "Thaddeus laces their performances with jokes and humorous songs, but all is seriousness when Sandahbeth belts out the blues or scats like Ella Fitzgerald."
