

Oregon at the NCAAs

Defending NCAA hammer champion Scott McGee (left) closed out his college career by finishing second to Southern Methodists Christophe Epalle with a throw of 224-5.

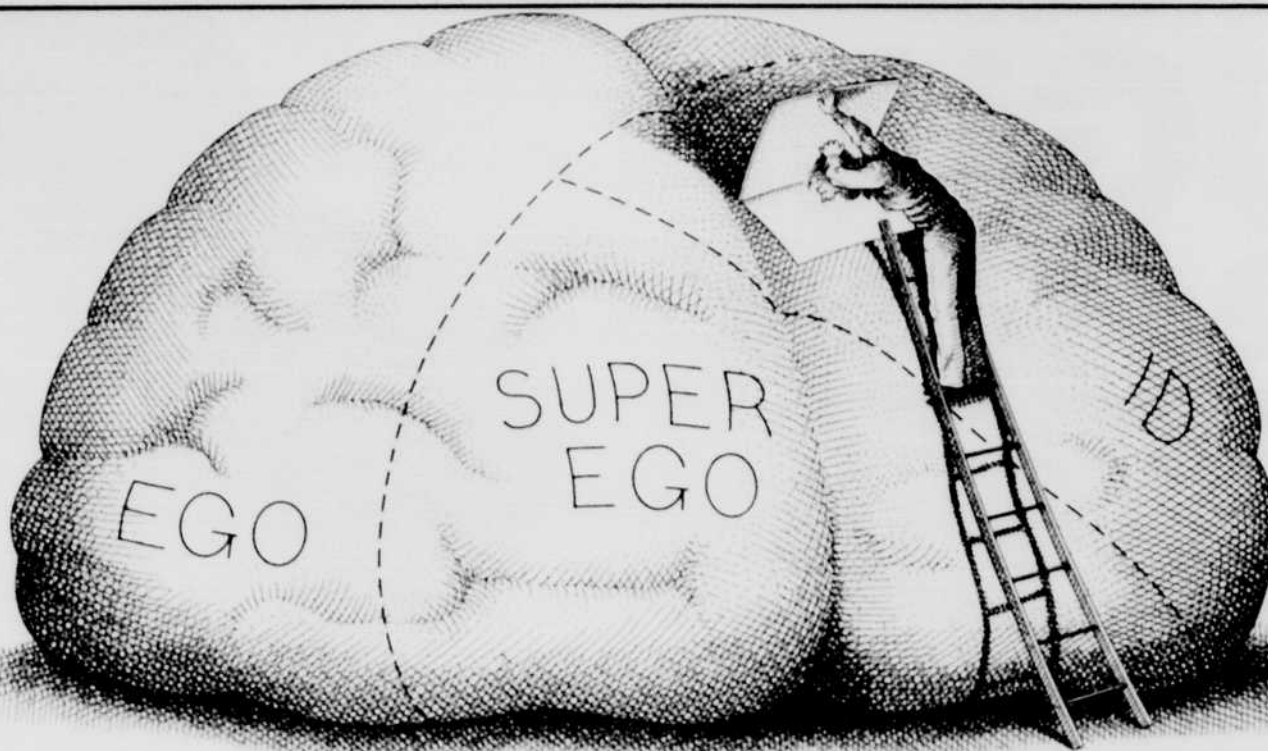

Bob Gray (above) placed second in the 110-meter hurdles after passing by Tony Li of Washington State — the favorite in the event — Pittsburg's Elbert Lewis and Nebraskas' Jerry Golding. Yet Gray fell short of Texas A&M's Greg Williams, who nipped him at the finish line by .008 of a second.

Art Skipper placed third in the javelin (below), his best showing in three NCAA championship meets, finishing up a frustrating injury-plagued year with a season-best throw of 234-98.

Photos by Jeff Paslay,
Andre Ranieri
and
Mark Ylen

It took Freud 38 years to understand it.
You have one night.

The psych exam is in 12 hours. And your id wants to party. Your ego wants to conk out. But your superego knows you need to stay awake tonight to cram.

Fortunately, you've got Vivarin. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So all your brainpower can focus on understanding the brain.

If Freud had used Vivarin, maybe he could have understood the brain faster, too.

Revive with VIVARIN®

© 1990 SmithKline Beecham
Use as directed. Contains caffeine equivalent of two cups of coffee.