Eyster to succeed Ramey as housing director

The University has named Michael Eyster as director of University Housing to replace Marjory Ramey, who retires June 30.

Eyster is expected to begin work July 8. "He had the enthusiastic endorsement of the search committee and of the many other faculty, staff and students that he met during his campus visit," said Dan Williams, vice president for administration. More than 80 people applied for the post during a national search. Eyster has been director of housing and residence life at Indiana University of Pennsylvania for the past five years. There, he was responsible for housing for 4,600 students and meal service for 7,700 on three campuses, managing a combined annual budget of $13.5 million.

At the University, his duties will include overseeing a system of seven residence hall complexes, with housing and service facilities for 3,125 single students, and three housing projects for 766 student families. The current University Housing budget is more than $10.6 million, which is funded through its rental and board charges.

From 1983 to 1986, Eyster was associate housing director at the University of Delaware. Earlier, he served in housing administration at the University of Chicago, Cornell University and the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Eyster currently chairs the Professional Standards Committee of the Association of College and University Housing Officers International and was appointed by that professional group to the board of directors of the Council for the Advancement of Standards for Student Services/Development Programs.

He holds a master's degree in educational psychology and measurements and a bachelor's degree in history and education, both from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Eyster's annual salary for the 12-month post will be $54,500.

Ramey, who became housing director in 1984, began her University career in 1962 as director of education programs for the housing office. She directed the Hamilton Hall complex from 1969-76 and was housing conference director from 1977-84.

Coach takes job in Austria

George Libbon, an assistant basketball coach for the Oregon men's team, resigned Tuesday to be the head coach of a European professional team.

Libbon, who was on Don Monson's staff for five years, will now coach SPL, a professional club team in Vienna, Austria.

Mike Peterson, a volunteer assistant for Monson during the past two seasons, will replace Libbon.

MEDIATION

yer or the University's ombuds officer. The officer, Janet Wentworth, deals with maintaining equal opportunity and affirmative action at the University.

The Mediation Center is able to resolve most of its cases, Gibson said.

"Success is when the parties come to an agreement or conciliation and everyone gets what they want," she said.

Although no statistics are available yet for this year, the success rate for years 1988-1990 was almost 80 percent, Gibson said.

This year has seen an increase in cases as well as in positive results, Gibson said. She believes the increase is due to "more available information about the center and referrals from friends."

"I don't have much power," Gibson said. "I'm just here to help people and to keep things from getting out of hand."

Six interns who observe and participate in mediation aid Gibson at the center. Pamela McGilvary, a graduate student in mediation and counseling, has been working at the center for six months. McGilvary worked on four cases with Gibson this term, in addition to screening potential cases.

"I think the Mediation Center is a place where people can learn to work out their own conflicts," McGilvary said. "It is a good starting place for learning basic communication skills."

The IFC voted to allocate funds to the mediation program that will allow the center to operate during summer months, instead of only being open during the normal academic year.

"I want people to feel that the center is here for them at all times, now including summer term," Gibson said.

Mediation is a free service to the University community. The center is jointly funded by the ASUC and the dean of students office. Gibson said she believes joint funding helps provide neutrality to all who use mediation services.

"The best thing that can happen in mediation is that everyone goes away happy and that relationships can be enhanced," she said.

The mediation center is located in EMU Suite 318 and is open five days a week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Drop-ins are welcome, but appointments are preferred.

Q: We carry computers, but we're not in the EMU. Who are we?

Sporting an easy-to-use interface, the Apple Macintosh line has become the favorite of many students. Whether you are writing a paper or designing a building, the Macintosh line can help you complete your project in style.

The IBM PS/2 line is easier to use than ever. IBM has packaged Windows 3 and other software with its computers, so all you have to do is plug it in and go! The IBM PS/2 line is the best of the DOS computers at great educational discount prices.

Microsoft is one of the leading software companies in the world, and for good reasons. Macintosh products like Microsoft Word and Microsoft Excel are hard to beat, and Microsoft's new Windows 3, Word and Excel 3.0 for Windows are revolutionizing the DOS software industry.

CLARIS

Claris offers easy-to-use software like MacWrite II and MacPaint 2.0, earning itself a solid reputation. And with software like FileMaker Pro, Claris CAD and MacDraw Pro, Claris has made a niche for itself.

Say Ashton-Tate and people will think of the dBase series of database software. They continue to offer strong software packages like dBase III+ and dBase IV, as well as innovative Macintosh software like FullWrite Professional and FullImpact.

that's not all!

We also carry popular software packages like Aldus PageMaker and Lotus 1-2-3. Since we are always working to offer more software at low educational discount prices, stop by or call to find out what else we have.

Getting through college is no easy task, and a good computer can help you do that job. That's why we're here. We carry computers and software at educational discount prices so they match everyone's pocketbook.

But what good is a computer if you can't use it? That's why "support" is part of our name. Our staff is here to support the computers and software we carry. If you are stumped by Windows or stymied by Microsoft Word, we can help. Want a computer but don't know where to start? We'll help you make a choice that will fit your needs.

Have a question? Come on in to 202 Computing Center (across from Rennie's Landing), or give us a call at 346-4402. We're open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. We display what we sell so you can try before you buy.
