Hockey team looks to promising season

By Doug Carter Emerald Contributor

With the days shortening and the weather turning as sour as the record of Oregon's football team, it's about time to look indoors for some really fast-paced sports action.

And where better to start than on the ice with the Oregon club hockey team? The team opens its season against Walla Walla College Saturday at 6 p.m. at Lane County Ice.

Team founder, coordinator and player Scott Brown said the team is primed for an exceptional year. Of this year's 22 players, 12 have returned from last year's team, which went 6-6-1. But more importantly, the program has begun attracting skilled players from

"We have (a total of) 14 states and provinces represented (on the team)," Brown said.

"Three players are fresh from playing in a semi-pro league in Alberta, Canada.'

Brown said he is proud to see how much the program has developed since it began two and a half years ago.

Last year the team played its first full season of full-contact hockey and "took a quantum leap forward in popularity and support," he said.

That support shows more people are attending games at Lane Ice than attend some varsity contests. "For one game last year we had nearly 1,000 fans show up to cheer us on," Brown said.

This year the team will compete in the newly formed Hockey West League. Gonzaga, Washington, Berkeley, San Jose State and Colorado State are the league's other charter mem-

Oregon's team looks to be one of the biggest and most dangerous on the ice this year. However, that isn't always the best scenario.

"We have so many big hitters out there that last year we ended up hurting ourselves," Brown said. "Hard checks in practice resulted in too many separated shoulders.

The team receives 10 percent of its expected $12,000 budget this season from student incidental fees. The remainder is raised through fundraising and ticket sales.

Environmental Awareness

Workshops • Fall Term 1991

OREGON RIVERS — OCTOBER 25, 26, 27 Fee: $150 plus $30 travel • 2 credits (LSS 408/508)

This workshop will investigate the exciting riparian environments of Oregon's rivers. Field-labs on local rivers offer firsthand exposure to help students gain an understanding of the problems, relationships, concepts and opportunities for river activities. Studies of plants, animals, history and river geology will broaden the students' awareness of Oregon's waterways.

SOUTH COAST — NOVEMBER 8, 9, 10

Fee: $150 plus $20 travel fee; maximum of 15 students • 2 credits (LSS 408/508) Study at the edge of the continent to gain knowledge about Oregon's spectacular and varied coastline. Activities along the estuaries, dunes and tidepools will provide insight into the relationships of the plants, animals, history and geology to enhance the student's understanding and appreciation of how it all fits together.

OREGON FORESTS — NOVEMBER 22, 23, 24

Fee: $150 plus $20 travel • 2 credits (LSS 408/508)

This workshop will provide a close-up look at the environment with an opportunity to study the relationships, concepts and variety that are present in Oregon's forests. Participants will gain a better understanding of the plants, animals, history and geology of Oregon's forest lands. The experience of walking among the 500-year-old giants will cultivate a depth of appreciation for our forest resources.

RISK AND LIABILITY — DECEMBER 6 AND 7

Fee: $75 • 1 credit (LSS 408/508)

This workshop is designed for guides, leaders and recreation personnel who deal directly with risk and liability issues. The workshop will cover areas such as standards, negligence, adventure recreation, protection issues, insurance choices and purposes, litigation, risk reduction, permission and release forms, accident reduction insurance, and contracts and contracted services.

NORTH COAST — DECEMBER 18 TO 22

Fee: $225 plus $50 travel • 3 credits (LSS 408/508)

Investigate the tidepools and headlands of the Oregon Coast. This workshop covers history, concepts, recreational uses, plants, animals, and the relationships which create the delicate web of this coastal environment. This workshop creates a unique opportunity for learning as we spend four days and three nights at the field-lab site. Study will take place in several environments, including, dunes, beaches, estuaries, tide pools and the coastal bush. History, geology, geography, plants and animals will be investigated, all with concern for their interrelationship with the environment.

To register for any of these workshops or for more information, stop by the Continuation Center at 333 Oregon Hall or just call:
