Football player cited for assault, trespass

By Gerrit Koepping
Emerald Reporter

An Oregon football player was cited Wednesday with fourth-degree assault and first-degree trespass after being accused of assaulting a female University student Saturday morning.

David Shawn Massey, 21, has been accused of entering the home of Kym Kirstin Daggett at around 2:20 a.m. on Feb. 8, allegedly dragging her from bed and striking her multiple times. Massey will appear in Lane County District Court on Feb. 26.

Both charges are Class A misdemeanors that carry a maximum $2,500 fine or one year in jail.

Massey was suspended Monday from the football team for an indefinite period.

Eugene police spokesman Tim Birr said conflicting information from Daggett, Massey and a witness to the incident delayed police action until Wednesday.

Sgt. Mike Cline of the Eugene police department said Daggett told police she had dated Massey for five months but broke up with him two weeks before the alleged assault.

The woman told police Massey entered her home with keys, but she did not know how he got the keys.

Massey then entered the complainant's room while she was in bed and told her to get up and talk to him, police said. Daggett told police she asked him to leave and he replied that he would drag her out of bed if she did not get up and talk to him, according to police.

She did not get out of bed but talked to Massey for a few moments, Cline said. Daggett told police that Massey then became angry, grabbed her by the ears and threw her against the wall, according to police. Massey then struck her several times with a closed fist and an opened hand, Daggett told police.

A witness heard the commotion and entered Daggett's room, where, according to police reports, he saw Massey strike the woman. The witness then helped stop the assault and Massey left, Cline said.

Police reports state that Daggett's face was red and puffy, but she was otherwise unhurt.

Massey had been a reserve inside linebacker for the past two seasons. Oregon football coach Rich Brooks said he believed the suspension was the right thing to do but would not elaborate.
