EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

Editor-in-Chief of the
OREGON DAILY EMERALD

The Oregon Daily Emerald, the independent student newspaper at the University of Oregon, is currently accepting applications for the position of Editor for the 1992-93 academic year.

Eligible candidates must be either an undergraduate student at the University enrolled for a minimum of six credit hours per term in three of the four academic quarters of his or her term as Editor, or a graduate student at the University enrolled for a minimum of three credit hours per term in three of the four academic quarters of his or her term as Editor. All applicants must be in good academic standing.

The Oregon Daily Emerald is published by a non-profit corporation which operates independently of the University. The primary purpose of the ODE is to provide education and training for students in all aspects of newspaper operation by serving a campus audience with news, editorial and advertising content.

The Editor of the ODE, who reports to a ten-person volunteer Board of Directors, has responsibility for all editorial operations and all editorial content of the newspaper. Term of office is June 9, 1992, to June 7, 1993, and is preceded by an orientation period from April 15 to June 8. This is a paid position.

Interested parties should pick up an application packet, which includes a job description, at the ODE front desk in Suite 300 EMU or call 346-5511 for more information.

Completed applications must be returned to the ODE Board of Directors by 5:00 p.m., Monday, March 2, 1992. An individual will be selected by the Board by April 14, 1992.

The Oregon Daily Emerald is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is working toward a more culturally diverse workplace.

Cougars bruise Oregon, 97-82

By Jayson Jacoby
Emerald Sports Reporter

In Pullman on Saturday, the Oregon men's basketball team almost doubled its first-half output from last Thursday's loss to Washington.

Unfortunately, the Cougars (18-8 overall and 6-7 in the Pacific-10 Conference) scored 57 points in the first 20 minutes to the Ducks' 37 on their way to an easy 97-82 win.

Oregon, 6-16 and 2-11, dropped its fourth straight league game. The Ducks have also lost 11 of their last 12 Pac-10 contests.

Oregon was as close as 37-25 with 7:40 left in the first half, but with leading scorer Antoine Stoudamire mired in a shooting slump, the Ducks never got any closer.

Stoudamire, who tied his season-low with 10 points in the 71-55 loss to Washington, scored just six points in the first half Saturday on 2 of 7 shooting before finishing with 23. Stoudamire was almost totally taken out of Oregon's offense by the Cougars' 5-foot-10 Neil Derrick, who is seven inches shorter than Stoudamire.

Had Johnnie Reece and Chuck Patterson not had their best halves of the season, Oregon would have trailed by more than 20 at the break.

Reece, who scored a career-high 28 points, had 15 in the first half. Patterson, who tied his career-high with 12 points against Washington, continued his hot streak by making his first five shots against the Cougars and scoring 12 of his 16 points during the first 20 minutes.

But even if Stoudamire had played to his usual standards, Oregon would have had a hard time staying with Washington State Saturday.

The Cougars took a 3-0 lead less than 30 seconds into the game on Tyrone Maxey's three-pointer and never looked back.

Washington State led 15-6 after five minutes and 35-19 midway through the first half before matching its biggest lead of 20 at the intermission.

The Cougars were led by 6-foot-8 senior forward Ken Critton, who scored 12 points on 6 of 6 shooting. As a team, Washington State blistered the Ducks with 63 percent from the field and 15 of 16 (94 percent) from the line. The Cougars also made 4 of 9 treys compared to Oregon's 1 of 5.

"The first half, we didn't play well defensively," Oregon coach Don Monson said. "Maybe I stuck in the zone too long. We were OK in the zone for two passes, but if they'd pass it three or four times, we'd break down."

Monson said teams have another advantage offensively when they play the Ducks.

"I'm convinced that people
