

Faculty, Staff and Students

A
GOOD DEAL

ON SQUARE MEALS

25 meal lunch pass for only $100

During Spring Term Only

This is a 30% discount from the daily cash price.

Purchase lunch pass at University Housing or call 346-4277 for more information.

UNIVERSITY

Groups to hold anti-nuke fair

By Mandy Baucum
Emerald Contributor

The Student Campaign for Disarmament will host Nuclear Free Friday on March 13 to inform people about participating in a protest against nuclear weapons testing, as well as to heighten awareness of environmental issues.

SCD, along with other organizations, will be at the event's awareness fair with sign-up sheets for those who want to participate in the protest, which begins April 10. Environmental groups such as BRING Recycling and the Solar Energy Center will also be at the fair to give out free environmental information. The fair will take place in the EMU

Courtyard Friday afternoon.

Also, Raymond Yowell, chief of the Shoshone Indians, and tribe member Carrie Dann will present the film To Protect Mother Earth Friday night at 6 in Room 177 Lawrence. The film depicts the difficulties the Western Shoshone face in their land struggle. Comments will also be made by Yowell and Dann.

Yowell and Dann have a "very unique point of view we want to share with members of the community," SCD co-Director Jake Wagner said. "It will be very empowering to see someone who is there all the time come and say what is going on down there."

The protest will begin near

Las Vegas, with a two-day opening ceremony featuring international speakers and performers.

Participants will walk 65 miles from Las Vegas to the Nevada Test Site from April 13-17. A nonviolent demonstration will be held at the site. In all, the events will last 10 days, including Earth Day on April 18.

The federal government in 1951 established the Nevada Test Site on a piece of land the Western Shoshone have been living and herding their cattle on for years.

The impact of nuclear radiation has reportedly caused the Shoshone to suffer increasing incidents of birth defects, mental retardation and cancer. The Shoshone want an end to the nuclear testing and hope that the protest will force action on the issue.

SCD wants to help the Shoshone keep their land and prevent it from being destroyed by nuclear testing. By hosting Nuclear Free Friday, the group hopes to raise awareness and gain support for this cause. Groups such as The Mad Farmers and singer Peter Wilde will be performing in the Courtyard from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

In addition to the Shoshone's fight against nuclear testing, they also face a battle to keep their native land. In 1973, the government accused Dann of trespassing on its land — land the Shoshone have been herding their cattle on for years.

The Shoshone have taken their case to the U.S. Court of Appeals three times and to the U.S. Supreme Court once. The Supreme Court ruled against the tribe because its members have supposedly been paid for the land. The U.S. interior secretary, who serves as spokesman for the Western Shoshone, accepted the $26 million dollars and deposited it into a U.S. Treasury Department trust fund.

However, the Western Shoshone have refused to accept the secretary as a guardian and haven't received any of the money. The Shoshone still plan nonviolent resistance against any government attempts to drive them from their land.

For those who are unable to attend the Nevada Protest but would like to support it, a benefit concert featuring African marimba music will be at the WOW Hall on April 3.

JANSPORT DAYS

MARCH 9 - 13
AT THE UO BOOKSTORE

Meet
Lou Whittaker

Lou Whittaker is an internationally known mountaineer, whose historic achievements include leading the first successful ascent of an American team to the top of 28,168 ft. Mount Kangchenunga, in 1989.

On March 12, Lou will lecture about his many mountaineering adventures, and present an exciting slide show of his climbs. He has successfully spellbound a packed room in his last two visits to the UO. Don't miss this opportunity to meet one of the world's greatest mountain climbers. He will be accompanied by Skip Yowell, another world class mountaineer.

LOU WHITTAKER LECTURE AND SLIDE SHOW

THURS., MARCH 12
7:30 - 9:30 p.m.
150 Columbia,
UO Campus

Sponsored by Jansport and
The UO Bookstore

Don't Miss
It!

Talk to Lou Whittaker
At the
UO BOOKSTORE
FRIDAY, MARCH 13
10:00 - 1:00

Win A Mountain Climbing Trip

Enter at the UO Bookstore for a Climbing Trip on Mt. Rainier with Lou Whittaker and Skip Yowell as your professional guides.

The trip includes: one night accommodations in downtown Seattle, a boat cruise and dinner on Puget Sound, a five-day seminar and basic mountain climbing training, four nights lodging and all meals at Camp Muir on Mt. Rainier, one night accommodations at the base of Mt. Rainier, and an awards dinner and dance party. Worth $400, this exciting trip is sponsored by Jansport.

The drawing will be held at Lou Whittaker's lecture March 12, and you must be present to win.

Door Prize Giveaways

On MARCH 11 & 12, the UO Bookstore will be giving away TWO DAILY PRIZES of a backpack and a sweatshirt.

On MARCH 13, to celebrate Lou Whittaker's visit to the bookstore, we will be giving away HOURLY PRIZES of a backpack and a sweatshirt, with TWO PRIZE WINNERS EVERY HOUR! Enter in the lobby of the UO Bookstore March 11 - 13

20% Off
Jansport

MARCH 9 - 13
You Save 20% On All
Jansport Merchandise at the
UO Bookstore
(sale items not included)

BOOK SIGNING with KENNETH HELPHAND

COLORADO: VISIONS OF A LANDSCAPE

Author Signing
Thursday, March 12
12:30 - 1:30 p.m.
in the General Book Department

Kenneth Helphand is a professor of landscape at the University of Oregon

Cash

For Textbooks
Mon. - Sat.

Smith Family Bookstore

768 E. 13th
1 Block From Campus

345-1651