

Portland opens tonight against rested, injured Phoenix

PORTLAND (AP) — Will the Phoenix Suns be well-rested or just rusty after a six-day layoff?

Don't ask coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "I have no idea," he snapped. "We've been off a long time. What will that do? You're guess is as good as mine."

Fitzsimmons spoke to reporters Monday just two hours after arriving in Portland, where his Suns meet the Trail Blazers tonight in the opener of their Western Conference semifinal series.

Maybe the subject was touchy because the Suns had trouble after their last extended idle period during the 1992 All-Star break. They went 1-5 after a six-day break, including two losses to Portland.

"The last time we had a long layoff, we didn't come back and play that well," guard Jeff Hornacek said. "But since we had a couple of guys banged up, maybe it helped this time."

Dan Majerle, Tom Chambers, Ed Nealy and Jerrod Mustaf all are nursing injuries. Majerle, who has a bruised left knee, didn't practice at all last week, but he worked out Sunday and is expected to play tonight.

Chambers, bothered by strained ligaments in his left wrist, and Nealy, who has a mild fracture of his clavicle, also are expected to play. Mustaf, who has a right thigh bruise, is listed as questionable.

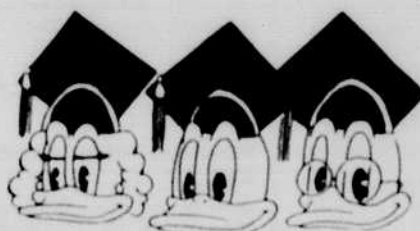

The Suns wrapped up a sweep of San Antonio Wednesday.
