

Student Trials

Rodney King protest at the Eugene Federal Building leads to guilty pleas/4D

Oregon Daily Emerald

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1992

EUGENE, OREGON

VOLUME 94, ISSUE 18

Steve Passerotti (left), general manager of the Steelhead Brewery, and brewmaster Teri Fahrendorf show off the brewery's state-of-the-art equipment. Two local McMenemy pubs — High Street and East 19th Street cafes — and Steelhead are serving microbrews as fast as they can pour them.

BREW HA-HA!

Thirsty Oregonians give up pop-top cans for home-style brew

There is a quiet revolution under way in beer drinking establishments across Oregon.

Beericus Oregonian — the Oregon beer drinker — is no longer satisfied by a steady diet of mass-marketed and mass-produced brews. The normally docile, but terminally thirsty creature has tasted microbrewed beer, and it is good.

• STORY by Tim Neff PHOTOS by Jeff Paslay •

Turn to MICROBREW, Page 2D