

STARS

Continued from Page 13D

fects are created by 35 projectors and an $85,000 rotating star generator. The images are projected on the dome of the facility and can be manipulated by a sophisticated console at the back of the room. The planetarium, which is larger than its OMSI counterpart, can accommodate about 115 stargazers.

Schools, including the University and Lane Community College, use the facility to teach basic and advanced astronomy.

But the planetarium's ability to combine music with spectacular 360-degree views of the night sky and three-dimensional projections, makes it a natural crowd pleaser.

"The instrument projects about 6,000 stars onto the dome," Elvert said. "We can get pretty complicated, but we can also be an entertainment facility."

Moonlighting as an entertainment facility, the planetarium has experimented with a number of combinations, including Shakespearean performances set to galactic projections and musical revues.

During the summer, the "Starlight Musical Revue" featured popular songs with cosmic and atmospheric themes. The musical revues are accompanied by 360-degree interpretations projected on the dome.

The future of the public programming hinges on letting people know about the often-overlooking facility.

"It's just a matter of getting the public aware of where we are and what we are doing," Elvert said. "We have not been, up until recently, a public resource."

COLORADO

Continued from Page 20D

year of a $15 million, 15-year contract.

University of Colorado spokesman David Grimm said President Judith Albino was concerned that McCartney had held the press conference in a university building behind a university podium.

"The coach has the same free speech rights of any individual," Grimm said. "But that does not include using a university facility to speak about a political issue."

Grimm said Albino had a "frank and candid conversation" with McCartney where she reprimanded him for not using better judgment, but she chose not to fire him.

Christof Kheim, one of three student-body presidents at the university, said the administration's response was "a great disappointment."

McCartney declined to comment about the controversy.

Tebedo defended McCartney by saying those calling for the coach's dismissal were trying to "curb coach McCartney's free speech" because they didn't like his message.

Are you...
PRESBYTERIAN?
JEWISH?
EPISCOPALIAN?
LUTHERAN?
UNITARIAN?
METROPOLITAN COMMUNITY CHURCH?

UNITED METHODIST?
ROMAN CATHOLIC?
UNITED CHURCH OF CHRIST?
DISCIPLES OF CHRIST/CHRISTIAN?

We're Here and Cooperating As...

Campus Interfaith Ministry

Join Us For Dinner!
 Thursday, September 24th
 5:30 pm

Koinonia Center • 1414 Kincaid
 For more info call 484-1707
 or campus extension 6-3597

Read the Emerald daily beginning September 28!

COMING YOUR WAY!

- Great Opportunities to Meet Others
- Dynamic Music
- Casual

COLLEGIATE CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

- Practical and Relevant Biblical Teaching
- Sense of Humor
- Informal

...with lots of opportunities to get involved...

Sundays at 11:00 A.M.
 (In the gym at First Baptist Church, 868 High St.)

QUESTIONS: 345-0341

Sunday morning shuttle from UO

Shuttle Stop	pickup	Return
Agate St. crosswalk	9:15 A.M.	12:15 P.M.
Covered tennis courts	9:17
19th and University	9:20
Alpha Omega House (1332 Kincaid St.)	9:25
NCC Dorms (12th and Kincaid St.)	9:27

Also, don't miss "New Dimension" at 9:40 A.M., a contemporary worship service geared to the collegian