

Oregon Daily Emerald

MONDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1992

EUGENE, OREGON

VOLUME 94, ISSUE 34

Crushkies

Photos by Michael Shindler and Jeff Paslay

The Huskies had Sean Burwell and the rest of the Ducks in a stranglehold in Saturday's 24-3 Washington victory (above). But that didn't stop Duck fans Morgan Natt (right to left), Will Crites, Brian Rippet and Amy Hope from enjoying sunny fall weather and watching the No. 1 team in the nation (right). Crites and Rippet painted themselves green for the occasion.

Jesse Jackson to speak today

□ The reverend's tour visits the University in an effort to encourage voting

The Rev. Jesse Jackson will speak today on campus as part of a national tour to encourage people to vote — and to vote Democratic.

Jackson is scheduled to arrive about 12:30 p.m. on the EMU East Lawn. He will be there whether it rains or shines, said ASUO President Bobby Lee.

Jackson is scheduled to be in Eugene for about an hour after leaving Southern Oregon State College, where he will talk to students at 10 a.m.

Other Democratic candidates, including Rep. Peter DeFazio, D-Springfield, and Dist. 41 candidate Cynthia Wooten will join Jackson in his address.

Jackson's visit to Eugene is part of a national tour that began Sept. 12 to encourage people to vote in the Nov. 3 election.

Lee said he was notified late last week of Jackson's coming, which came as a surprise to him.

"Basically, they said, 'We're coming,'" Lee said, adding that he believes Oregon is a political hot spot now because of Ballot Measure 9. "That's no accident.

"We're on national television because of Measure 9," Lee said. "This is a serious issue.

"What a lot of these promoters do is go around and conduct a survey to find out what the competition is like between Republicans and Democrats," Lee said. "They want to tip the scales, so to speak. But the benefit of all this, is that we get to see people like Jesse Jackson and Hollywood stars to motivate people and tell students what's going on in our society."

Jackson was on campus the last time in May of 1988 while seeking the Democratic nomination for president. Fifteen-thousand people flocked to McArthur Court to hear Jackson. About 5,000 people were turned away at the door. Jackson's campaign workers at the time said it was the largest campus turnout of Jackson's 1988 tour.

Jesse Jackson

President Brand to undergo leadership evaluation

□ University head will have his three-year performance assessment this week

By Don Peters
Emerald Freelance Editor

Not even University President Myles Brand can escape armchair quarterbacks.

Peter Magrath, president of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, will be on campus Tuesday and Wednesday to conduct Brand's first three-year performance evaluation.

The routine assessment of Brand's academocratic leadership and management is in line with a policy adopted in 1982 by the state Board of Higher Education.

As part of his evaluation, Magrath will meet with selected staff, faculty, student, alumni and local government representatives.

In addition, Magrath will have a "drop-in" meeting on a first-come, first-served basis Wednesday, Oct. 21 in Room 240 Willamette.

Written confidential comments will also be accepted but must be received by the close of business Tuesday, Oct. 27. Letters must be marked "Confidential Presidential Evaluation" and mailed to Magrath at P.O. Box 3175, Eugene, Ore., 97403.

The 10-year-old higher education board policy evaluates Oregon university and college presidents every three years. Brand was hired as the 14th University president in July of 1989.

As part of the process, Brand will write a "statement of stewardship," or self-evaluation, and undergo a physical examination.

"This is a very routine process," said Larry Large, vice chancellor of the Oregon State System of Higher Education. "The evaluation is just good management."

Large, who implements the policy for presidential evaluations, said OSSHE looked for "sitting presidents" to conduct the process, rather than go to a professional consulting firm.

"We try and get comparable to do the evaluations," Large said.

After his meetings at the University, Magrath will summarize his information and meet with Brand and Oregon Chancellor of Higher Education Thomas Bartlett to discuss the results.

Magrath will then prepare a written report for Bartlett, who will add his own comments and put the report in Brand's personal file.

The chancellor will present a summarized evaluation to the higher education board Nov. 20 in Eugene.

WEATHER

Today the Eugene-Springfield area will experience cloudy periods with a slight chance of rain late in the afternoon. Highs will be between 65-70. Lows near 50.

Tuesday there is a great chance of rain. Highs are expected in the upper 60s.

HERE KITTY, KITTY

WILDERVILLE (AP) — A 250-pound runaway Bengal tiger that prowled the Oregon woods for eight days came back to its owner's home Saturday morning, meekly following a plate of chicken thighs back into its pen.

"I said, 'Come on Babe, let's go home,' and she followed me up the hill," said Dee Arlen, a former actress who keeps the two-year-old tiger as a pet. Arlen went to meet the tiger after a neighbor said she'd heard something outside.

"She's no different than a small house cat, except that she's huge," Arlen said. "She ate out of my hand the first year of her life."

After a plate of chicken thighs and a pound of zoo food, the tiger, unharmed and a bit thinner after its week in the wild, basked on its back.

SPORTS

AMES, Iowa — With his team losing by 26 points and only 20 minutes left to play, Kansas quarterback Chip Hilleary had it all figured out.

"Right before you roll the dice, you've got to know whether you can win or not," Hilleary said.

"And I think we believe."

His team believed enough to stage the biggest comeback in school history for a 50-47 victory over Iowa State on Saturday.

Kansas rallied after trailing 47-21 with five minutes left in the third quarter to spoil Iowa State's most productive outing.