

1992 Career and Internship Fair, Nov. 4 & 5

Get the insiders' edge into the job market

Do you want to know how to make a good first impression in a job interview? How to make your resume stand out? How successful people have "made it" in the tough job market?

These questions and more will be answered at a seminar entitled "Realities of the '90s Job Search" on November 4 at 4:00 in the EMU Fir Room. This event is sponsored by Meier & Frank.

Carolyn Chambers, University of Oregon alum and owner of KEZI-TV and Chambers Communications Corporation will be giving the keynote address.

She will be followed by a panel of hiring managers offering inside information on how to conduct a successful job search and will be answering students' questions.

The panelists will be Angela Burns from U.S. Bancorp, Bob Chessen of Meier & Frank, Priscilla Gould from United Way, and Dennis Hopwood of Spectra Physics.

Sheila Stickel, former ASUO vice-president, will also be in the panel describing the challenges she has faced in the job market.

"The panel represents a broad range of career fields," said Beth Swank, career counselor. "All students will find the information invaluable for their job search."

When you're part of the nation's best sales force, you feel at home with success.

Northwestern Mutual agents were named the best insurance sales force in a survey of sales executives by Sales & Marketing Management magazine. In fact, Northwestern swept all seven categories used to measure performance and had the highest overall score of any sales force in any industry. And exceptional performance means exceptional rewards. More than 1,500 Northwestern Mutual agents average over $121,000 in commissioned income last year. If you're an achievement-oriented individual who accepts nothing short of real success, consider a career with Northwestern Mutual. You'll receive intensive training, top performing products and unlimited opportunities. The way is up to you. Call
