

STREETWISE

QUESTION:

What do you think of having homosexuals in the military?

"There should be no problem with having them in the military. I don't see how it would affect their performance. Society has changed a lot, and we can't use old stereotypes."

XAVIER NIKODAEMOS
senior, french

"If I was in the military, I'd personally feel uncomfortable if homosexuals were in the military."

junior, computer science

"I don't have a problem with it, if it is handled well. There might be some problems with emotions involved with homosexuality and living in close quarters."

"It doesn't matter to me. It shouldn't make a difference if you do the job and don't impose your belief on anyone else."

TERESA SCHAEFFER
senior, english/dance

"I have no problem with homosexuals in the military. I can see a point where they may cause a disruption, but I don't think that's much of an issue. They should have the same right as other people."

freshman, arts

"I think everyone should be open to others and their opinions and lifestyles. It doesn't matter if a person is gay, bi or lesbian."

freshman, business

For instant garbage, just add waste.

Would you throw away this plate of food? Each dorm resident wastes this much food in one week's time. In one campus dormitory dining hall alone, 786 pounds of food is thrown away each day.

When you waste the food you served and didn't eat, you are creating garbage. In other words, it's good food until you waste it. When food waste is translated to cost, it comes out a double waste. That means the money that the food costs to produce is wasted and the cost of handling the garbage is added to it.

Do your pocketbook a favor and don't waste food. Serve only what you will eat.

The waste you save, can go to the bank.
