

Police arrest robbery suspect

NORTH BEND (AP) — Relief swept through this coastal town Tuesday as residents learned a man had been arrested in the robbery of a gun store where two people's throats were cut.

Police stormed a house just eight blocks from the gun shop Monday night and arrested Jason Ray Dizick, 19.

"We went in hard," said police Chief Gilbert Zaccaro. "You've got a guy who cut two people's throats and has got a machine gun; you're not going to go in with a bouquet of flowers."

The Uzi machine gun and a .45-caliber automatic pistol taken in the robbery were found wrapped in old clothes buried underneath hundreds of pounds of garbage in a dumpster outside the house.

"I think we got him just in the nick of time," Zaccaro said. "I think the garbage was going to be picked up today."

Dizick was held in the Coos County Jail without bail pending arraignment Wednesday.

Zaccaro said fear had gripped the community for a week.

"Anyone who knew me wanted to know what was going on, how they could get a concealed weapons permit, when we were going to catch the guy," he said.

"Everybody was on edge quite a bit," said Stephen R. McMullan, owner of the Ammo Bunker, who survived the attack along with his friend, Gerald W. Weist.

McMullan had just reopened his downtown gun store Monday after getting out of the hospital.

"If it wasn't for the constant headache I've got from being pounded in the head with a shotgun butt, I'd feel better," McMullan said. "I was very relieved. I just didn't want him out there to be free to do to somebody else what he did to me."

Dizick is charged with attempted aggravated murder, attempted murder, robbery, theft and unlawful possession of a firearm.

Zaccaro described Dizick as a drifter who moved in with his girlfriend and her mother the day of the robbery.

Zaccaro said Dizick reminded him of a child who had gotten into trouble, trying to be on his best behavior afterward. He didn't dare show the guns to anyone for fear they would turn him in. He had no car, so he couldn't even drive somewhere to shoot them.

"The culture he was moving in, they'd turn you in for a book of matches," Zaccaro said. "We had $1,200 bucks on the guy. That is a hell of a motivator for some of those people."

Man shoots ex-wife at Florida cemetery

MIAMI (AP) — The TV crew was filming Emilio Nunez placing flowers on his teen-age daughter's grave, grieving over her suicide. Then his former wife showed up unexpectedly.

As the camera rolled, Nunez lunged at the woman, put a 9mm semiautomatic handgun to her head and pulled the trigger. She fell to the ground and Nunez stood over her, firing again and again into her head, killing her.

The videotape of Monday's shooting was broadcast Tuesday evening in Miami on the Spanish-language Telemundo network program Ocurrio Asi, or It Happened Like This — a program similar to Current Affair and Hard Copy. The shooting later was broadcast on at least one network.

Nunez, 34, remained at large Tuesday, though his car was found. The Delray Beach man left his current wife and stepson behind at the cemetery in suburban North Lauderdale. It wasn't clear whether they saw the shooting of Maritza Martin Munoz, 33.

Joandra Nunez, the 15-year-old daughter of Nunez and Martin, fatally shot herself in the chest on Thanksgiving.

On the videotape, before the shooting, Nunez told reporter Ingrid Cruz that his ex-wife abused the girl. He alleged that the girl killed herself after her mother slapped her when she disclosed she was pregnant.

While cameraman Jorge Delgado filmed the interview and Nunez placing flowers on the grave at Queen of Heaven Cemetery, Martin, off camera, showed up in a car.

Nunez' current wife and stepson were sitting in his car, and, also off camera, he apparently told them to leave the area on foot, Delgado said.

Nunez got into his car and moved it to block his ex-wife's car on the cemetery road, the reporter and cameraman said. Martin then got out of her car and scribbled Nunez' license plate number on a piece of paper.

While the tape rolled, Cruz and Delgado approached Martin in her car. Nunez also apparently was nearby, and Cruz, wanting to interview Martin, told him, "Go away."

Martin started walking into the cemetery, followed by Cruz, who was holding out her microphone.

The shooting started suddenly.
