

Oregon basketball teams 0-14 in Pac-10

Men drop another as confidence continues to fall

Arizona's Damon Stoudamire, cousin of Duck Antoine Stoudamire, had 17 points, 10 rebounds and six assists, leading his team to a 92-60 victory over Oregon Thursday at McArthur Court.

The Oregon men's basketball team is becoming frustrated, and there's not much it can do about it.

The Ducks were grossly out-matched Thursday night, losing their seventh straight Pacific-10 Conference game of the season to eighth-ranked Arizona 92-60 at McArthur Court Thursday night.

After the game, the Oregon team expressed the frustration of being winless in the Pac-10, and spoke of the confidence that is falling with each loss.

"It's tough," forward Jeff Potter said. "It's wearing on all of us, and it's really hitting me hard. We're spiraling fast, and we need to catch on to something quick or we'll be ... We need to get better."

Duck coach Jerry Green also expressed concern about the level of confidence his team has.

"What worries me the most," he said, "is that I don't think there was one player on our team that felt we could win this game."

Oregon stayed close with the Wildcats for the first eight minutes of the game and trailed only 9-7.

The Wildcats built the lead to 26-12, and went into the locker room with a 40-25 lead. An eight-point run to start the second half gave Arizona a 48-27 lead, and the Ducks never got closer.

The Wildcats' frontline of Ed Stokes and Chris Mills dominated inside, leading Arizona to 53-35 rebounding advantage. Point guard Damon Stoudamire bounds, and had six assists to lead the Wildcats in all three categories.

Despite Oregon's troubles, Green said he will not give up on his team.

"I'm tired of people laughing at us," he said. "This is a new experience for me, but I'm not going to give up on this team."

Women lose to Wildcats 79-70

Keisha Anderson scored 17 points and dished out seven assists to lead the Arizona women's basketball team past Oregon 79-70 in Tucson Thursday night.

The loss was Oregon's eighth in a row and pushed the Ducks deeper into the Pacific-10 Conference cellar with a record of 0-7. The losing streak is the longest the Ducks have had since Elwin Heiny took over as head coach in 1976-77.

Oregon scored the first four points of the game before Arizona scored eight in a row to take the lead, and they never relinquished it. The Wildcats shot 51 percent from the field in the first half to take a 41-33 lead at halftime.

Oregon went on a 9-2 run midway through the first half, led by center Sara Wilson who scored six points during the stretch, to pull within 60-58 with 7:29 left in the game. Arizona responded with an 11-4 run of its own to push the lead back to 71-62 with 5:48 remaining in the game.

Oregon was unable to get any closer than seven points during the final five minutes and Arizona got its biggest lead at 77-66 with 30 seconds left in the game to pull out the victory.
