

Cooking up a storm

Photo by Dylan Coulter

Erik Brown, head chef at Excelsior Cafe and a recent University graduate, and Margaret O'Connor, lead line cook, prepare lunch for customers. Both students and faculty frequent the cafe.

Unidentified tip alleges rape in residence hall

□ Although no official report has been filed, officers will increase their patrols

By Sarah Clark
Emerald Reporter

University Housing has received anonymous information alleging a dormitory resident raped another resident in Cloran Hall Saturday, Jan. 30, a University housing official said Monday.

The unofficial information indicates both the victim and the alleged rapist are residents of Cloran Hall, which is part of the Hamilton Complex, said University Housing Director Mike Eyster. The alleged rape occurred in the lobby of the residence hall, he said.

The anonymous tip did not include the names of either the victim or the alleged rapist, nor did it say how well they knew each other, Eyster said.

As of Monday, no official report had been filed with the Eugene police department or the University Office of Public Safety regarding the alleged incident. However, University Housing has received enough information to treat the matter as more than a rumor, Eyster said.

Although OPS cannot investigate unless a formal complaint is filed, it will increase patrols around Hamilton Complex, said OPS Director Carey Drayton.

But because the alleged incident appears to be an

Turn to CLORAN, Page 3

City Council hears homeless site plan

□ Eugene residents debate temporary car camp location near Alton Baker Park

By Meg Dedolph
Emerald Reporter

Speakers at the Eugene City Council's Monday night meeting debated the Eugene Human Rights Commission's proposed homeless camp near the northeast corner of Alton Baker Park.

Those against the proposal said they were troubled by the site selection process and the possible danger to schoolchildren visiting the Willamette Science and Technology Center and the nearby planetarium.

"We believe that the public process used to recommend the WISTEC parking lot is flawed," said Jeff Foreman, representing the Lane Education Service District, which operates the planetarium.

"We were not contacted about the impact the proposed camp might have on our operations," he said.

Foreman also said those concerned about locating the camp near residential areas, the Casanova Center or river trails should have applied the same standards to the children visiting WISTEC.

"A school setting like the planetarium is not the appropriate setting for a homeless car camp," Foreman said.

Councilor Paul Nicholson said he did not consider the proposed car camp site part of the WISTEC parking lot, and that the WISTEC

Turn to HOMELESS, Page 3

Jewish students appreciate heritage

□ Group struggles not to be forgotten

By Mandy Baucum
Emerald Reporter

While teaching at Wilson University in Pennsylvania, Eugene psychologist Jerry Diller's interest in his Jewish background began to resurface.

When a man Diller had known and respected for years came to know his Jewish heritage, Diller became extremely interested and decided to do some research about a history he had suppressed for many years.

After checking out several books on Judaism one day, Diller was leaving the library when he noticed a book titled The American Jew was sitting on top of his stack of books.

Diller said he turned the book over without a second

Courtesy photo

Students hold a vigil in the EMU Courtyard to remember when Hitler had all the Jewish synagogues in Germany burned.

thought, so passers-by wouldn't notice and identify him as a Jew.

Diller said he did not recognize this incident as an example of the shame he felt

Turn to MINORITY, Page 3

WEATHER

Chance of rain in the afternoon. Highs should be in the 50s. Light rains should be decreasing with partial clearing by Wednesday.

Today in History

In 1950, Senator Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis., charged that the State Department was riddled with Communists.

PEG JOLIN RESIGNS

SALEM (AP) - Peg Jolin announced her resignation from the Oregon Senate on Monday in the wake of increasing pressure to quit because of her felony election law conviction.

Her resignation takes effect March 8.

"It is with deep regret that I must take this step, but I do so for the good of the state and out of deep respect for the process," the Cottage Grove Democrat said in a letter to Secretary of State Phil Keisling.

Jolin, who was absent from the Capitol on Monday, was convicted last fall of eight felony accounts and seven misdemeanor counts in connection with a fraudulent campaign fund-raising letter.

SPORTS

ALABASTER, Ala. (AP) - Miami Dolphins running back Bobby Humphry, arrested last week in Georgia on a cocaine possession charge, was shot just above the knee Monday during an apparent argument in his car.

Alabaster police said Mark Petties, a former teammate of Humphry, was released after Humphry declined to press charges in the shooting. Petties said he acted in self-defense.

Humphry, who played for Alabama from 1985-1988, was arrested last month on charges of cocaine possession, aggravated assault and destruction of hotel property. He was also charged with giving police a false name.