

ASU overpowers Ducks 77-63

Arizona State's inside game was too much for the Oregon women's basketball team on Thursday night, as the Sun Devils defeated the Ducks 77-63 at McArthur Court.

Arizona State's front line combined to score 43 points and grab 28 rebounds, compared to 33 points and nine rebounds for the Ducks front line. Forward Monique Ambers led the Sun Devils with 20 points, followed by Jovonne Smith with 16 points. Arizona State's center Lisa Salsman pulled down 11 rebounds, while Ambers and Smith had nine and eight rebounds, respectively.

Oregon's interior defense suffered in the first half when Debbie Sporcich picked up two fouls in the first five minutes and finished the half with no points and one rebound. Sporcich came on strong in the second half, scoring 19 points to lead the Ducks. Missy Stowell was the only other Duck who scored in double figures, as she finished with 12 points.

The Sun Devils opened the game with a 9-2 run and they did not relinquish it all night. Arizona State led by as many as 12 points in the opening half, before the Ducks cut the lead to 30-26 with 2:02 remaining in the half. Arizona State finished the half with a 6-0 run to take a 36-26 halftime lead.

Arizona State kept its lead in double digits for most of the second half until Sporcich cut the lead to 67-58 with 3:23 remaining in the game. The Sun Devils did not panic, but instead responded with a 10-5 run to end the game.

"We weren't as sharp as we needed to be," said Oregon head coach Elwin Heiny who picked up a rare technical foul in the first half. "Arizona State's inside game really took over. Their post players picked it up a notch in the second half; they did the things that hurt us."

The Ducks will host their final home game Saturday night when they face Arizona at 5:30.

Winning streak short-lived for men

The men's basketball team saw its two-game winning streak come to a halt at the hands of Arizona State Thursday, losing 103-88 in Tempe.

The Ducks trimmed a 16-point halftime deficit to seven with a nine-point run to open the second half. But the Sun Devils scored 15 in a row to go back up 65-43.

Oregon got within 10 with two minutes left, but it wasn't enough.

Oregon trailed by only six at 30-24 midway through the first half, but Arizona State went on a 9-2 run to take a 13-point lead.
