

Three suspended; Oregon loses 99-68

Three men's basketball team members were suspended prior to Oregon's game with Arizona Saturday. The Ducks suited up seven players (and a team manager) and lost 99-68 to the fourth-ranked Wildcats.

Clyde Jordan, Andre Collier and Jermaine Reese were all sent home Friday for staying out past curfew after the Ducks' game Thursday night against Arizona State.

"The three are currently on one-game suspensions," Oregon coach Jerry Green said. "Their status will be determined before our next basketball game."

The Ducks next play Saturday against Oregon State at McArthur Court.

Arizona probably could have beaten Oregon by 70 points, but head coach Lute Olson used the game as a chance to give his younger players a chance to play.

"It was obvious today that we had too much talent," Olson said. "It was great to get a chance to have extended time for the freshmen."

Oregon had a few brief minutes of excitement when Orlando Williams hit three three-pointers in four minutes to cut Arizona's lead to 16-12, but the Wildcats took over the game from there, outscoring the Ducks 40-15 the rest of the half to take a 56-27 lead by halftime.

"He played his starters a limited amount of time," he said. "because our players did get tired."

Green also said he sticks by his decision to send the three players home.

"There are no regrets ... of the other three getting sent back," he said.

Williams led all Duck scorers with 23 points and Antoine Stoudamire had 19. Arizona's Chris Mills had 23 points in 19 minutes.

Oregon is now 2-13 in the Pacific-10 Conference. Arizona remains undefeated in the Pac-10.

The Ducks have three home games remaining on the schedule: Saturday against the Beavers and the following week against California and Stanford.

Sophomore Karen Healea scored a career-high 21 points to lead the Oregon women's basketball team to a 77-63 win over Arizona in its final home game Saturday at McArthur Court.

Healea score 17 of her 21 points in the second half when the Ducks pulled away from the Wildcats. Oregon's win, coupled with Washington State's loss, put the Ducks and Cougars in a tie for ninth place in the Pacific-10 Conference.

Oregon (9-15, 3-12) led 31-29 at halftime before going on an 11-2 run at the start of the second half. Arizona came back with a 10-2 run in the second half, but the Ducks responded with another 11-2 run to keep Arizona at a distance.
