

In the Air

S ay the travel bug hits you, and you start looking at magazines and newspapers for ideas of where to go. But then you think about the cost, and you put your wanderlust on hold, figuring there's no way you can afford to travel.

Don't give up. There are lots of ways students can save big money when they buy plane or train tickets or even rent a car. That's the beauty of traveling when you're a student. You get great deals on fares.

Check out the tips in this section, and you'll realize travel doesn't have to be expensive, no matter how you want to go.

