Transportation Basics trans-portation sometimes very slow, almost always very crowded and usually incredibly cheap! Any of the good budget guide-books will provide excellent information on getting from place to place.

Train Tips

- When traveling long distances, get a seat reservation. For $2-$3 you can reserve a seat in first or second class, depending on the type of pass you purchased.
- Study your Eurail Traveler's Guide — you will find that many boat, ferry and bus tickets are free or discounted.
- Study the timetables and become familiar with the 24-hour clock.
- Be prepared to meet people and make friends — a big advantage of train travel.

Automobiles

If you are traveling with a couple of friends, you might look into renting a car for a portion of your trip. It is almost always cheaper to arrange this before you leave the United States. Council Travel can arrange a low-cost car rental for you anywhere in the world.

Car Tips

- Look into the cost of picking up your car in one place and dropping it off in another. This can be a real timesaver.
- Toll roads are not just a U.S. phenomenon; they are found throughout Europe and are very costly. Get off the beaten track and save money!
- Purchase good road maps and study the signs for each country you will drive through. AAA has excellent information on overseas driving.
- Driving habits are different overseas. If you are a timid driver, travel by train!
