

France Rail pass

Two flexipasses are available that offer unlimited rail travel in France. The pass also includes one free day on the Paris Metro and round-trip rail transfers to/from Paris airports.

BritFrance Pass

This flexipass offers unlimited travel in first or second class over the entire French and British rail network, including a round trip on the Hovercraft between Dover, England and Boulogne or Calais, France.

European East Pass

This first-class flexipass is ideal for travelers who want to include Eastern Europe in their trip. You can choose between two lengths of validity for unlimited rail travel in Austria, the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland and Slovakia.

Any 5 days in 15 days $169
Any 10 days in 1 month $275

Additional Passes

Similar passes are available through Council Travel for Germany, Switzerland, Spain and Scandinavia.

Rail Guidebooks

When preparing to hit the tracks, it's not a bad idea to hit the books. There are several guidebooks that can be helpful to the student traveler. Use these as sources of ideas during the planning stages and as reference when you're on the trail.

The Eurail Guide — How to Travel Europe and All Around the World by Train, by Kathryn Turpin and Marvin Saltzman, includes a listing of 796 possible one-day trips from 157 cities in 141 countries, and has information on intercity train schedules. The 816-page guide is available for $14.95 in bookstores, or for $17 from Eurail Guide Annual, 27540 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, CA 90265. Another option is Baxter's Eurailpass Travel Guide, by Robert Baxter, available from Rail-Europe, P.O. Box 3255, Alexandria, VA 22302 for $9.95. When you get closer to your actual departure dates, plan to the minute with Cook's European Timetable, available at European bookstores. It includes train schedules for all of Europe and the Mediterranean. ☉
