Net guard out for good

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Nets braced for the worst over the past week, and they got it Monday when they learned that point guard Kenny Anderson is out for the season with a broken left wrist.

Anderson was examined Monday morning by hand specialist Dr. Charles Melone Jr., and it was decided to place a full cast on his left arm, at least for now. Surgery remains a possibility, but the prognosis for complete recovery is good, Melone said.

Anderson sustained the injury a little more than a week ago when he was shoved to the court while he was going up for a layup by John Starks of the New York Knicks. Starks was called for a flagrant foul and was eventually fined $5,000 but not suspended, a move Nets management criticized.

Duck netters earn sweep

The Oregon women's tennis team swept three matches this past weekend in California to raise its overall record to 9-2.

The Ducks won 17 of 18 matches against San Jose State and San Francisco Saturday, and then upset Fresno State 5-4 the following day.

Against the Bulldogs, Krissy Barger, Elise Adams, and Jackie Deford all won in singles competition. Barger/Deford and Adams/Sara Willens each captured victories in doubles matches.

Barger/Deford trailed 5-3 in the third set, but rallied to even the match at 6-6. They then won the tiebreaker 7-4 to win the match and the team title for Oregon.

The Ducks came into the weekend ranked seventh in the NCAA Northwest section.

Oregon will be at home this weekend to face Whitman at the 15th Avenue courts.
