Green signs three; may lose two

By Dave Charbonneau
Oregon Daily Emerald

Oregon men's basketball coach Jerry Green announced the official signings of three more recruits Friday and hinted that two more spots could be opening up soon.

The Ducks signed two junior college transfers: Darryl Parker, a 6-foot-5 forward from Mira Costa Community College, and Zach Sellers, a 6-9 center from Olney Community College, along with Henry Madden, a 6-6 freshman forward from Coalinga, Calif.

The three recent signees will join Kenya Wilkins, a freshman point guard from Los Angeles, and Brion Smith, a 6-2 junior college transfer, who were signed last fall.

The Ducks also signed Jamal Lawrence, a 6-2 sophomore transfer from Pepperdine earlier in the spring, but Lawrence will not be eligible to play until the 1994-95 season.

Green also said two returning players are exploring transfer opportunities for the 1993-94 season.

Green could not be reached Sunday to comment on who those two players may be but said in mid-April that "we'd like to wait until we get a definite yes or no and we can announce where they plan on going."

The Register-Guard reported Saturday the two players expected to leave are point guard Johnnie Reece and forward Clyde Jordan. Both players received disciplinary action last season and were apparently unhappy with their roles on the team.

Jordan played sparingly for most of the season before receiving increased playing time in the Ducks' final few games, playing a key role in Oregon's victories over Washington and Washington

State.

Reece saw his playing time diminish throughout the season.

Both were sent home before a road game in Arizona after they broke curfew, and Reece was sent to the locker room by Green midway through a game at Washington State.

Neither could be reached for comment.

As for the recruits, Madden, a 205-pound small forward, averaged 25 points, 15 rebounds and five blocks while shooting 55 percent from the field last season for Coalinga High School. He was also named to Cal Prep magazine's Division Four all-state team.

"Henry is a young player with only a one-and-a-half years of basketball experience," Green said. "He has lots of undeveloped talent, and I think he may grow some here."

Parker, a 200-pound small forward, was a first team all-state selection in California last season, averaging 23 points and eight rebounds a game, and also shooting 61 percent from the field.

"Darryl adds experience and athletic ability where we do need help at the perimeter with the loss of Antoine (Stoudamire)," Green said.

Seller will give Oregon some much-needed inside strength. The 230-pound post player averaged 17 points and nine rebounds last season in Illinois.

"Zach runs the floor well, uses his body inside and will help us fill the need at the post position with only three returning players at the spot," Green said.

If Reece and Jordan are actually on the way out, here's a look at what Oregon's roster will look like

Softball wins one of four in Arizona

The Oregon softball team wrapped up its scheduled season during the weekend with one win in four games in Arizona.

The Ducks (18-16, 8-8) will now head home this week and try to make up some games that were rained out earlier in the season.

Oregon began the road trip with a trip to Tempe, Ariz., where the Ducks split a doubleheader with Arizona State. The Sun Devils took the first game 3-0 behind the pitching of Amber Tintman, who allowed only six hits and struck out nine batters.

Oregon came back in the second game of the doubleheader to beat the Sun Devils 5-2. The Ducks scored four runs in the fourth inning, and pitcher Rachele Taylor made it stand up by allowing only seven hits and two runs. On offense, the Ducks were led by Kathy Stahl and Laura Schmidt, who had two hits apiece.

The Ducks' offense sputtered Saturday when they totaled only five hits in two games and were swept by Arizona 3-0 and 9-0. Arizona's standout pitcher Susie Parra pitched a one-hitter and struck out 12 batters in the first game to raise her record to 19-2.
