Teen-ager gets javelin in neck

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — A javelin tossed during warm-ups for a high school track and field meet pierced through the neck of a 15-year-old team manager but missed vital organs by millimeters, his doctor said Tuesday.

"This thing had eyes for missing anything important," said Dr. Jeffrey Hammond, chief of trauma surgery at Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital. "As it was, he only suffered just some minor injuries to the muscle mass."

Jeremy Campbell of Metuchen was impaled by the eight-foot aluminum javelin Monday afternoon while preparing for a meet between his St. Joseph's High School and Edison High School.

"I didn't see it at all," Campbell said. "Everybody yelled 'duck,' and the next thing I knew I got hit with a javelin. At first, I thought it hit my head and bounced off, but then I looked down and saw it."

Campbell is to be released from the hospital today, and Hammond said the sophomore can return to school as soon as he likes.

"I'll probably head back to class next week," Campbell said at a hospital news conference. "I think I'll take a few days to relax."

Al Ernst, St. Joseph's assistant track coach, said an Edison athlete threw the javelin during warm-ups for the meet at St. Joseph's.

Campbell said he was six to 10 feet outside of the javelin throwing area, about 130 feet from where the spear was thrown.

Three Ducks named all-Pac-10

Three Oregon softball players were selected to the all-Pacific-10 Conference team Monday.

Freshman shortstop Kathy Stahl was named to the first team, and junior pitcher Rachelle Taylor and freshman center fielder Lisa Preston were placed on the second team.

Stahl, out of San Jose, Calif., finished the season hitting .388, good enough for second on Oregon. She led the team in hits (42), runs (30), triples (4) and total bases (72). Her five home runs and 15 RBIs were both second on the team.

Taylor, a native of Citrus Heights, Calif., led Oregon with 13 victories and 107 strikeouts and posted a 1.39 ERA. Preston, who is from Redding, Calif., had 25 hits on the season, along with 12 runs and two home runs. Her nine sacrifices led the club.

UCLA's utility player Lisa

Fernandez and coach Sharron Backus were named the 1993 Pac-10 player and coach of the year. It was Fernandez's third-consecutive player of the year honor, a Pac-10 record. For Backus, it was her third coach of the year honor in four years, also a Pac-10 standard.

The Ducks finished the season last week. The season was shortened for Oregon because of constant rainy conditions in April.

FOR 30 YEARS, WE'VE BEEN EXPORTING AMERICA'S MOST VALUABLE RESOURCE.

The men and women of the Peace Corps. Dedicated Volunteers who put their valuable skills to work, helping people in developing countries live better lives.

It's tough. And it takes more than just concern. It takes motivation. Commitment. And skills in any one of several important areas: education, math and science, health, business, agriculture, the environment, community development, and more.

For 30 years, being a Peace Corps Volunteer has been a chance to stop dreaming about a better world and start doing something about it.
