Time for all you jocks to get PC

From the Sidelines
Dave Charbonneau

If you think paying 25 cents for a schedule of classes sucks, just wait until next year when you'll have to pay $2 a game to watch Duck football and basketball.

Sound unfair? Are you steaming mad? Too bad. You're just not politically correct enough to be given free privileges that go along with attending a "culturally diverse" university.

The main argument the Incidental Fee Committee used when it decided to cut the athletic department's allocation, thus forcing the athletic department to institute the $2 fee, was that many students are paying for something they never use.

There's no question there are plenty of people who could care less about sports. But there are also thousands of students here who could care less about any of the student unions that occupy the basement of the EMU. But did any of them get a cut this year? No way.

You want to know why? Well, it's because jocks (the people who are the majority of student spectators at athletic events) are the furthest thing from being PC on campus.

I'm not trying to make a case against student unions, or any group the IFC gives money to.

What I'm saying is it is popular to support "culturally diverse" groups. Groups that make the U of Zero appear to be a college that promotes equality.

Unfortunately, sports, athletes and jocks do not fit under that heading.

Associate athletic director Sandy Walton said it best when she said, "It's very popular to bash athletics."

Ask the PCers on campus and many will tell you sports are for the feeble-minded, backward-hat-wearing, tobacco-chewing, 20-beer-drinking hicks.

Bashing athletics is, indeed, the PC thing to do.

So, my plan is that it's time for jocks to become PC, as defined by everyday observations of the U of Zero campus. Hold on to your hats, this could get ugly.

1. Incense — Jocks must make it a point to burn incense in the stands at all sporting events. This will prove that we are trying to cover up the smell of our bodies that haven't been cleansed for three days.

2. No Showers

3. Protest — Jocks must protest. Yes, we must make signs, get 100 marimba and congo players, and stage a "celebration of sports" rally in the courtyard at the EMU.

4. No Cheerleaders — Next, jocks must demand the removal of cheerleaders, because everybody knows cheerleaders in their skimpy outfits only add to the misogynistic and chauvinistic thinking of the sex-driven male ego.

Ask the PCers on campus and many will tell you sports are for the feeble-minded, backward-hat-wearing, tobacco-chewing, 20-beer-drinking hicks.

5. Vendors — Jocks must demand giving vendors the right to set up stands outside of Autzen Stadium and McArthur Court to sell various beads, tapestries, cooky hats and joke books before and during games.

If all of the jocks on this campus will come together and follow my plan, I argue that come fall 1994, you will have proven to the IFC that you are, indeed, a politically correct and culturally diverse group that adds to the whole of the University community. They will have no choice but to raise the athletic department's allocation, and we will no longer have to pay for viewing games.

Keep in mind that turning PC will be a permanent thing, and you will have to continue to demonstrate your cultural diversity after the $2 fee has been abolished.

I have a feeling that after hearing that, you may just think two bucks isn't that bad after all.
