Committee OKs lottery funding

By Katy Moeller
 Oregon Daily Emerald

The Senate Ways and Means Committee approved funding for the proposed International College and the Museum of Art Tuesday.

Senate Bill 755, which now goes to the full Senate, would allocate state lottery funds to provide the University with $650,000 to begin planning and construction of the International College, which has been estimated to cost more than $12 million.

"The International College would build on the strengths that the University already has in its foreign language and international studies programs," said Randy MacDonald, Director of Legislative and Community Relations.

The International College would be a combined residential and academic program.

In the academic space of the new facility, the University plans to include classrooms, a lecture/performance hall, seminar rooms, a foreign language center, and telecommunications facilities with computer and satellite links.

MacDonald says that "seed money" from the state is necessary to attract private funds.

"We need money to do the design work so that we can show potential investors where their contributions might be used," he said. "It gives them a clearer idea of where their money will go."

The lottery bill also allocates $350,000 to the Museum of Art.

The money would go to improvement of the climate control within the museum.

"The conditions under which our treasures are housed is less than adequate. They've been neglected," said Rep. Bill Dwyer, D-Springfield.

The museum currently has little control over the temperature and humidity, Museum Registrar Lawrence Fong said.

"We have a responsibility to reassure people that we will take care of the art that they donate," he said.

"Books are replaceable, art is not," he added.

When the museum was built in the early 1930s, the University could not afford to condition the environment.

"We'll have to keep building micro-climates for objects if we don't get the money," he said.

The museum houses exhibits which are made from a wide variety of media. Some media, such as textiles, are particularly susceptible to deterioration, Fong said.

The museum will need more than a $1 million to complete the proposed project. The $350,000 provided by state lottery funds would allow the installation of humidity control systems.

Matching federal funds may also become available if state funds are granted, Fong said.

RE-STRIPING

booth, said OPS parking coordinator Rand Stamm, is to direct traffic for parking and to provide campus information.

East 13th Avenue from Agate to University streets will be closed. Included is the two-way portion of East 13th from Agate to the information booth, and the one-way portion of East 13th from Beech to University Street.

The contractors — Triple S Striping Service of Springfield — will re-stripe East 13th between Beech and University streets, creating one-way bicycle lanes bordering the motor vehicle travel lane, which will exist in its current form.

When completed, parking spaces will shift from the south to the north edge of the roadway. Parking will be decreased to 26 spaces, on a permit basis for staff and faculty.

The objective of the project, Stamm said, is to discourage vehicle traffic on East 13th Avenue, improve safety for bicyclists and motorists and be more environmentally-sound.

"It's designed to be a half-way step between closing it and keeping it totally open," Stamm said. "I would like to move away from vehicle traffic and have all pedestrian traffic eventually."

The expense of the re-stripping contractor was the lowest of three bids. The Physical Plant, which could likely do the job for less money, didn't have the "manpower to do the project," said Janet Lebou, construction project manager for the Physical Plant.

The reason for the $2,800 cost of re-stripping, Lebou said, is because the contractors have to clean the street, double- and triple-stripe the bike lanes, black-out the existing parking lanes, paint the curbs and have sign-holders at either end of East 13th.

"It's not quite as easy as putting up barricades," Lebou said.
