

POLICE BEAT

The following incidents were reported to the University Office of Public Safety and the Eugene police department July 19-26.

• An employee of the Student Insurgent reported an incident of telephonic harassment July 21. According to police reports, she said the harassment at her residence has been continual for the past six months, and she believes it may be because of her involvement with the student newspaper. Most of the calls have been hang-up calls, but some have been from a male caller using vulgar language. No reference to the Insurgent was made in those calls.

• A 39-year-old man was cited for trespass on the 1300 block of East 13th Avenue on July 22. He had previously been issued a letter of trespass by OPS and had violated that on July 11.

• A theft from a vehicle was reported July 19 on the 1800 block of Columbia. The theft occurred sometime between 1 and 7 that morning. The suspects removed the back window of the victim's car and stole two speakers worth $50.

• A 19-year-old Lane Community College student was cited for minor in possession and criminal mischief July 24 at 1:22 a.m. on the 1100 block of Franklin Boulevard. According to police reports, the suspect walked up to an OPS car and urinated on the left quarter panel of the vehicle, then walked away with his pants still unzipped. An OPS officer got out of the car and asked the man to stop. The man didn't stop, so the officer apprehended him and cited him.

• A 39-year-old man was arrested for attempting to start a fight on the corner of 17th Avenue and Hilyard Street July 24. According to police reports, the man jumped into traffic, fell in the street and struck his head. Some onlookers pulled him out of the street, and police officers arrived with the intention of taking the man into detox. The man told an officer that he would "kick his ass," and once in the car the man became violent and kicked the back door open. The officers took the man to jail, where he became increasingly combative, and he was placed in segregation.

• A 20-year-old man was cited for minor in possession and for providing false information to a police officer July 25 on the 300 block of East 13th Avenue. According to police reports, the man was sitting on the porch of a house when police officers pulled up in front. A few minutes later he exited through a side door and left a 40-ounce bottle of beer by a shed.

When apprehended by police, he said he didn't know why he ran into the house. A police officer informed the suspect that if he provided false information to them, he would be arrested. The suspect said he understood that. He proceeded to give the officer a false name and said that he had no identification. He then gave the officer a false phone number, and the officer requested verification of that number. The man finally gave the officer his true name, and he was arrested.

• A 32-year-old man was arrested for criminal mischief, disorderly conduct, possession of less than an ounce of marijuana and assault July 25 on the 300 block of East 17th Avenue. According to police reports, the man was intoxicated when he jumped into the street in front of a woman's car. A crowd of onlookers approached the scene. The woman's car stalled when she braked for the man, and he smashed the hood of her car inward and caused $600 worth of damage.

He then tried to open the door of the car, but the woman had locked it, fearing for her life, according to police reports. One onlooker approached the suspect with a stick and told him to get away. The suspect attacked the man with the stick and punched him in the head. Police arrived at the scene and arrested the suspect. He told police, "Cars have been trying to hit me all day." He also said that he had damaged the woman's car because she had tried to hit him.

• A 17-year-old man was cited for trespass at the Westmoreland Housing Complex July 25. The man had been previously been issued a letter of trespass. He was cited and released.

extracurricular activities, and the parents are concerned about classes," he said.

The staff also tries to make the program entertaining by inviting speakers, encouraging participation and by producing a unique musical — which Morris is extremely proud of — called A Quack Line.

The show, a spoof of A Chorus Line, includes seven musical numbers — rewritten every year — that address stereotypes of the people students are likely to encounter at the University and attempt to curb pre-judgment.

Surprisingly, few students and parents seemed to be discouraged by the recent increase in tuition or the history of continually rising costs for education in the state, said some visitors and the IntroDUCKtion staff.

Compared to other places, especially California, the University is not much more expensive and sometimes cheaper, Morris said.

"There are still some people who think we're a good deal," he said, "and we are."

Another parent saw it just as the reality of the situation.

"We expected it was going to be expensive," said one parent, "but that's the price of an education."
