

Non profit. Owned by students, faculty and staff. Governed by students, faculty and staff. That's your bookstore. And that's what makes our relationship with you unique. We're not just another business. We're a partner in your education from orientation through graduation. Since 1920, our only purpose has been to provide for your needs at the University of Oregon.

From 1916 when the first bookstore was organized until the present; student, faculty and staff needs have changed. We're able to meet these changes through your suggestions and support along with the creativity of our Bookstore family of employees.

This year we celebrate over 73 years in our relationship with you, and we're still challenged to go farther, be better. We hope to challenge you to keep telling us what you need—to keep shopping here. The more you use us, the more we can return to you. Money spent here, beyond our operational needs, comes back—not to us, but to you in text and product savings. That's our unique partnership!
