UNIVERSITY UPDATE

• Snow Shredders, a video showing the best snowboarders in the world tearing up the slopes of Colorado, will be presented by the University Outdoor Program at noon today in EMU Room 37. For more information, call 346-4365.

• Woman in Mind, a play by Alan Ayckbourn, opens at 8 p.m. today in the University Arena Theatre, 1109 Old Campus Lane. The play continues Feb. 3-5 and 10-12. Tickets available at the box office are $5 for general admission, $4 for seniors and non-University students, and $3 for University students. For more information, call 346-4191.

• Kevin Matthews, assistant professor of architecture, will talk about "Multi-media and Architectural Design" at 11:45 a.m. Thursday at the Downtown Athletic Club. The talk is part of the University Alumni Association's bimonthly lecture series. The cost is $11 for general admission and $10 for UOAA members. For more information, call 346-5656.

• Dave Ellis from Archaeological Investigations Northwest will present a lecture titled "Laboring in Obscurity: Archaeology in Portland's Chinatown" at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at the University Museum of Natural History, 1680 E. 15th Ave. The talk is part of the Museum of Natural History Lecture Series, and a $1 donation is encouraged. For more information, call 346-3024.

• Valerie Taliman, an environmental writer and correspondent for national publications, will present a free lecture on "Native Lands" at 5 p.m. Thursday in Room 260 Condon. For more information, call 346-0897.

• Paul Schicke, REI Adventure's Russian expert, will present a free slide show of a climb of 18,841-foot Mount Elbrus at 7 p.m. Thursday in Room 100 Willamette. For more information, call 346-4365.

• The University and the Substance Abuse Prevention Program will have a conference titled "Broken Childhood and Shattered Dreams — The Adolescent Years" beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday with an open-mike forum at the Valley River Inn, Eugene. The goal of the conference, which is the second of a three-term series addressing the issues of children, adolescents and families of the 1990s, is to provide the community with more understanding of the symptoms and behaviors of high-risk youth. The conference will continue Friday and Saturday. Thursday's conference is free, but there is a conference fee for Friday and Saturday. For more information, call Miki Mace at 346-3397 or Dr. Richard Schlaadt at 346-4136.
