

A Booksigning with Terry Tempest Williams

Friday, May 6th

12:30-1:30, Upstairs

One of the most eloquent voices of the American West, Terry Tempest Williams will sign copies of her newly released collection of essays, An Unspoken Hunger—Stories from the Field.

In a series of detailed and beautifully rendered portraits, Williams examines the spirituality that binds nature and woman, illuminating the strength and inspiration that helped to form Georgia O'Keeffe, Rachel Carson, Mardy Murie, and the Stone Creek Woman. Williams is the author of Refuge, Pieces of White Shell: A Journey to Navajoland and Coyote's Canyon.

All of Terry Tempest Williams' books are available upstairs in our general books department.
