

ROSE BOWL 1995

Free safety Jeff Sherman has more than proved his worth at Oregon after having been dismissed as being too small. He led Oregon in tackles in 1994 with 107.

ty," Sherman said.

In addition to his football abilities, Sherman has made the All-Pac-10 Conference Academic teams for an impressive four-straight years as a management student, just another goal that he has been able to eclipse.

With all the success that he has enjoyed in his stint at Oregon, Sherman is by no means content with what he has accomplished.

"Give him an inch and he'll take a mile" seems to be this determined student athlete's motto as he has not only gained the respect that eluded him coming out of high school, but Sherman has become a star on this Oregon team that is nearing its first trip to the Rose Bowl in 37 years.

"My goals change all the time," he said. "When I was playing a lot in the middle of the season, I was thinking to myself, 'It would be really nice just to get one vote and get honorable mention in the Pac-10.' By the end of the season, I was disappointed getting honorable mention in the Pac-10."
