Williams leads three-point barrage

Mark McTyre

Oregon Daily Emerald

Once again The Pit was packed with fans boiling over with enthusiasm, ready to see the Oregon men's basketball team stretch its home winning streak to eight games.

The fans got what they came to see and the Ducks provided plenty of fireworks on their way to a 95-point effort, helped along by a half-dozen players hitting from the three-point stripe, spearheaded by senior guard Orlando Williams.

"Everything starts with 'O' getting his jumper off," said Oregon guard Kenya Wilkins. "Once he makes one of those big threes, the crowd gets pumped up and everybody gets into it."

In addition to Williams, four other Ducks hit three-point shots in the opening half: Wilkins, Jamal Lawrence, Darryl Parker and Aaron Johnson.

After the Ducks jumped out to an early 7-4 lead, Lawrence hit the first of six triples that the Ducks would make in the first half.

A few minutes later the barrage of three-pointers erupted.

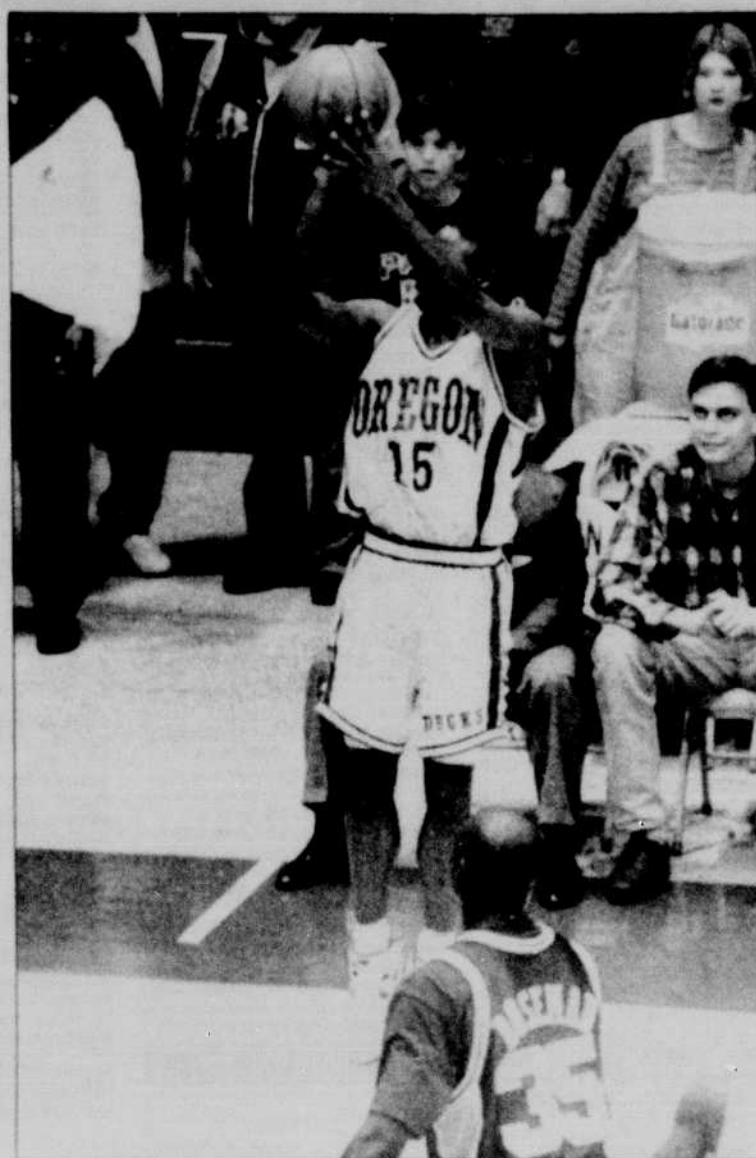

First Johnson hit from the top of the arch and then, on Oregon's next possession, Williams started his shot parade from beyond the arch, with a rainbow three-pointer from the right side over a soaring Lorenzo Orr. Williams finished the night with 30 points and seven three-point baskets.

"I don't care if we shoot the three," Oregon head coach Jerry Green said, "as long as it's a good shot and the guy knows he can make it."

"It counts more out there than it does inside."

In the second half, Williams and the Ducks didn't let down on their aerial attack on the Trojans. Williams was headed for the outer stratosphere as he hit five baskets from beyond the arch in the half.

Williams' first three of the half was shot right in the face of a sailing Stais Boseman. His second three showed that this night was his as he launched a shot from the old NBA distance and watched it bounce between the backboard and the rim three times before it dropped in for the points.

Later in the half, Williams dropped in another triple, this one from the top of the key with 1.7 seconds remaining on the shot clock. His final long-distance basket of the night went through the circular iron with 1:37 left in the game.

Williams finished the night 7-11 from three-point land including a 5 for 7 effort in the closing half.

Others to hit from the distance in the second half were Jordy Lyden, Wilkins and Parker, who was 2-3 on the night.

As a team, the Ducks were 14-24 (.583) on three-pointers while the Trojans were a dismal 8-23 (.348).
