Students flock to Duck Days

Like many high school seniors, Melissa Miller of Los Angeles faces the challenge of picking the right college.

A visit to Eugene and a University information session called Duck Days may have made her decision a little easier.

Sponsored by the Office of Admissions, Duck Days is a day-long gathering for prospective students. Highlights include a campus tour, a welcome by University President Dave Frohn-mayer, tours of University schools and a reception at the Collier House with University students, faculty and staff.

Although Miller is considering several universities, she's impressed with the University. Duck Days left her with a very positive impression of the University, she said.

"I loved it," she said. "[Duck Days] was really informative."

"There were so many people willing to answer questions," said Lorraine Miller, her mother. "It was so good, when they asked 'Are there any questions?' we didn't have any because they'd already been answered."

Duck Days started March 20 and is scheduled for every Monday until May 1.

The orientation was planned to coincide with the spring breaks in the states where most of the University's students come from, said Menta Hynes, coordinator of Duck Days.

According to University demographics, most students come from Oregon, Washington, California, Hawaii and Alaska, as well as a growing population of students from areas in New England and Colorado.

*Deferred Apple Computer Loan offer expires June 2, 1995. No payment of principal or interest will be required for 90 days. Interest accruing during this 90-day period will be added to the principal and will bear interest which will be included in the repayment schedule. Monthly payment is an estimate based on a total loan amount of $1,521.60, which includes a sample purchase price of $1,438 and a 6.0% loan origination fee for the Performa 636 system shown above. The monthly payment for the total loan amount described above would have been $27. The interest is variable based on the commercial paper rate plus 3.5%. For example, the month of February 1995 had an interest rate of 11.57% with an Annual Percentage Rate (APR) of 13.52%. The monthly payment and the APR shown assumes 90-day deferral of principal and interest as described above, and no other deferral of principal and does not include state sales tax. Product prices, product availability, loan amounts and sales taxes may vary. The Apple Computer Loan has an 8-year loan term with no prepayment penalty and is subject to credit approval. Prequalification expedites the loan process but does not guarantee final loan approval. © 1995 Apple Computer, Inc. All rights reserved.
