MUSIC TODAY

COURTESY PHOTO
Charles Dowd will play percussion Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Beall Hall.

The Music Today Festival is a University-sponsored community celebration of 20th century music. The festival is presented once every two years. This year it will run from April 6 to May 2.

The Eugene Ballet, Eugene Symphony, Eugene Concert Choir and the Hult Center have included modern works in their repertories to help make this festival more than a University-based series of concerts.

The Music Today Festival is international and cross-cultural. It was created in 1993 by the University School of Music, under the direction of Robert Kyr, associate professor of composition. It is designed to give listeners a living connection to the concert music of the present century.
