Company Appels bring contemporary moves to Eugene

Company Appels will bring their contemporary choreography to the Hult Center Monday, May 15 at 7:30 p.m.

The eight-person company is based in New York but is briefly in residence at Western Washington University, where company founder and Western alumnus Jonathon Appels is spending spring quarter as a visiting faculty member.

Appels, who studied art at Western in the early 1970s and who has an outdoor sculpture on the Western campus, founded his contemporary dance company in 1979, with his background in visual arts, Appels often refers to his choreography as "sculptural."

Appels serves as artistic director and choreographer for the company. His choreography is committed to virtuosic and expressive movement, and is imbued with Appels' sensitivity towards poetics, new music and the visual arts. Company Appels is dedicated to fostering a wider understanding and appreciation of conceptually-based contemporary dance.

Along with their Eugene performance, the company will also perform at Western Washington, the Seattle Art Museum, and in Victoria and Vancouver, B.C.

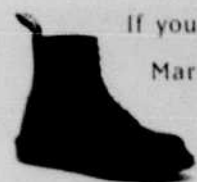

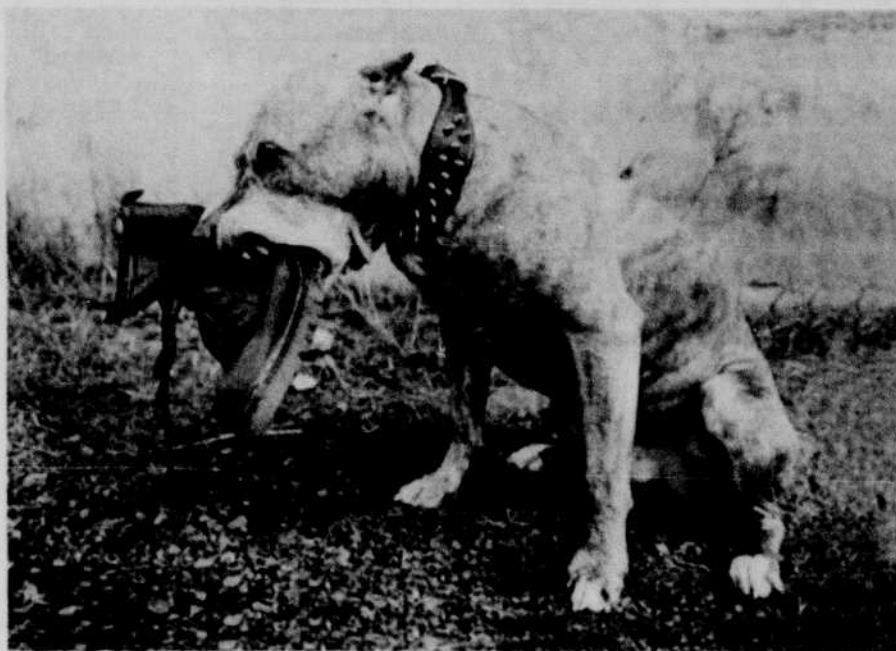

Tickets for the Hult Center performance are $12 general and $8 for students. For ticket information, call 687-5000 or visit the EMU Main Desk Store. For more information about Company Appels, call the EMU Cultural Forum at 346-4373.

you could hurt
your teeth.*

If your dog has a thing for chewing shoes, just toss him a pair of Dr. Martens classic 1460 boots. With their bullet-proof construction, practically indestructible soles and tough-as-nails leather, they should be all that's needed to make him break the habit. Along with a few teeth.
