
WUNDERLAND 5th STREET PUBLIC MARKET
 5 VIDEO GAMES 683-8464
 VIDEO ADVENTURE
 VALLEY RIVER PLAZA
 NEAR THE GARDENS
 1001 Valley River Way • 954-2002

15%
 Student Discount
IHOP
 Good only at these locations:
Broadway • Gateway
345-9976 • 747-1024
 Must present UO or LCC student I.D.
 Not valid with other discounts.
 Valid for I.D. holder only.

Indiana paces way to next round

NEW YORK (AP) — The Indiana Pacers shook the specter of their Game 7 past at Madison Square Garden, and they did it without any help from Reggie Miller.

Without a single fourth-quarter point from their star, the Indiana Pacers advanced to the Eastern Conference finals Sunday with a 97-95 victory over the New York Knicks.

Patrick Ewing, whose play in Games 5 and 6 helped the Knicks force the deciding game, missed a layup with less than a second remaining.

"We were scared to death but we got it done," Pacers coach Larry Brown said.

Miller, who had 29 points but took just one shot in the final period, watched Ewing's shot bounce off the back of the rim, then turned and ran past mid-court as the buzzer sounded. His face calm, he knelt and kissed the floor.

"The Knicks are a class act," Miller said. "I was wrong for saying that choke thing in Game 1."

For Miller and his teammates, the win was retribution for last season, when they lost to the Knicks by four points in game 7 of the conference finals. Indiana advances to meet the Magic in the conference finals beginning Tuesday in Orlando.

The Pacers also become just the second road team to win a Game 7 in 22 such contests. Houston did it Saturday, beating Phoenix in the Western Conference semifinals.

Rik Smits had 19 points, car-

1995 NBA PLAYOFFS

rying the fourth-quarter offensive load for Indiana despite playing with five fouls. Dale Davis, who had a total of four points in the last two games after dislocating his right shoulder, added 14 points.

Smits' 8-footer with 1:19 left gave Indiana a 97-92 lead, then Anthony Mason missed two free throws and a fastbreak layup for New York. After Miller took his first shot of the quarter and missed, John Starks hit a 3-pointer, falling as the ball swished through.

New York called timeout with five seconds left. Ewing got the ball with his back to the basket near the top of the key. He spun left and dribbled while double-teamed by Derrick McKey and Dale Davis. He had a clear shot at the basket but the ball rolled off his fingertips and bounded off the rim, with Davis grabbing the miss and ending New York's season.

Ewing, who finished with 29 points and 14 rebounds, stood with his hands on hips and looked skyward. His coach, Pat Riley, grimaced, while Brown whooped it up, dancing across the court.

The Knicks trailed by five at the end of the third period and tied the game 83-83 on Hubert Davis' 3-pointer with 7:14 to play. Beaten on the offensive boards, Indiana didn't score in the quarter until Haywoode Workman's layup at the 7:49 mark.

But the Pacers quickly rebuilt their lead. Derek Harper was called for a flagrant foul on Antonio Davis, who made both free throws, and Smits scored off the ensuing possession to put Indiana up 94-87 with 3:13 left.

Clearly, this is a team that learned something from last season, when it blew an opportunity to win the series at home in Game 6, then lost Game 7 94-90 at the Garden. In that game, Miller scored 25 points but shot 7-of-17 from the field and was called for a late flagrant foul that sealed the outcome.

"We knew the pressure would be on them," Miller said of Sunday's showdown. "We came out loosey-goosey."

For the Knicks, who made it all the way to Game 7 of the NBA Finals last season, the loss represented a major setback and signaled the beginning of what's likely to be an offseason full of changes. Riley is said to be considering quitting even though he has one year left on his contract, and Mason, who won the league's Sixth Man award, will be a free agent.

Confident after coming from a 3-1 series deficit to force Game 7 at Madison Square Garden, the Knicks couldn't pull out the last win despite playing smothering defense in the second half.

UO Economics Department

invites you to a public lecture:

Professor Thomas Sargent
 Stanford University and University of Chicago

"Social Security Reform"

Tuesday, May 23
 7:30 p.m., 110 Willamette Hall

a reception follows in the Willamette Hall Atrium

HOT. MAC. DEALS.

Burn, baby, burn — disco inferno.

Not the burger, pal — the killer computer.

Cheap. Not as cheap as a taco, but hey.

Now $3,358
 or $61/month

Power Macintosh 7100 AV w/CD
 16MB RAM/700MB hard drive, CD-ROM drive,
 15" color display, keyboard and mouse.

Now $1,950
 or $36/month

Macintosh Performa 6115 w/CD
 8MB RAM/350MB hard drive, CD-ROM
 drive, 15" color display, keyboard, mouse
 and all the software you're likely to need.

Now $1,242

LaserWriter Select 360
 Toner cartridge included.

Now $2,773
 or $50/month

PowerBook 520c w/Modem
 12MB RAM/320MB hard drive and modem.

PAY NOTHING FOR 90 DAYS.

Being a student is hard. So we've made buying a Macintosh® easy. So easy, in fact, that prices on Macintosh personal computers are now even lower than their already low student prices. And with the Apple® Computer Loan and 90-Day Deferred Payment Plan, you can take home a Mac® without having to make a single payment for up to 90 days. Which means you can also take home the power to make any student's life easier. The power to be your best. Apple®

Microcomputer Support Center
 202 Computing Center • 346-4402
 Monday-Friday, 9am - 5pm
 e-mail: mpp@oregon

*Deferred Apple Computer Loan offer expires June 2, 1995. No payment of principal or interest will be required for 90 days. Interest accruing during this 90-day period will be added to the principal and will bear interest which will be included in the repayment schedule. Monthly payment is an estimate based on a total loan amount of $3,553.44, which includes a sample purchase price of $3,358 and a 6.0% loan origination fee for the Power Macintosh 7100 system shown above. The monthly payment for the total loan amount described above would have been $61. The interest is variable based on the commercial paper rate plus 5.35%. For example, the month of February 1995 had an interest rate of 11.57% with an Annual Percentage Rate (APR) of 13.32%. The monthly payment and the APR shown assumes 90-day deferral of principal and interest as described above, and no other deferral of principal and does not include state sales tax. Product prices, product availability, loan amounts and sales taxes may vary. The Apple Computer Loan has an 8-year loan term with no prepayment penalty and is subject to credit approval. Prequalification expedites the loan process but does not guarantee final loan approval. ©1995 Apple Computer, Inc. All rights reserved. Apple, the Apple logo, Macintosh and "The power to be your best" are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc. Mac is a trademark of Apple Computer, Inc. All Apple products are designed to be accessible to individuals with disability. To learn more (U.S. only), call 800-776-2333 or TDD 800-833-6223.