Now offered at the University of Oregon! ACADEMIC SPEED READING Wednesdays, 3:00-3:50 January 31-February 28

This five-week workshop will introduce students to accelerated reading strategies. Students who participate in all sessions and complete the assigned practice should anticipate doubling* their reading rate without decrease in comprehension.

Students will learn ways to improve their abilities to concentrate and recall information by employing strategies appropriate to both high-interest and low-interest material. Many students will find that their comprehension actually improves when using these rapid-reading techniques.

Although open to all students, Academic Speed Reading is specifically designed for upper-division and graduate students who have adequate reading skills but who would like to approach their reading assignments more efficiently and effectively.

A fee of $25 covers all instruction and materials.
For more information or to register,
stop by Academic Learning Services,
68 PLC or call 346-3226.

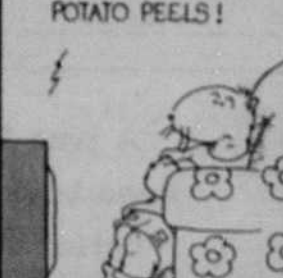

*Some participants will experience greater gains in rate.
