Jordan leads Bulls to record win

■ NBA: Chicago wins its 15th consecutive game with a 93-82 victory over the Phoenix Suns

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan scored 31 points as the Chicago Bulls set a franchise record with their 15th consecutive victory by beating the Phoenix Suns 93-82 Sunday.

Dennis Rodman had 20 rebounds and Scottie Pippen 21 points for the Bulls, who are 38-3 at the season's midway point. Only the 1971-72 Los Angeles Lakers, who went on to win an NBA-record 69 games, ever won 38 games by the midseason.

The Bulls resume pursuit of the 70-victory mark Tuesday, when they begin a seven-game road trip at Houston.

In 1991-92, they were 36-5 at midseason before a losing trip ruined their bid to break the Lakers' record. Earlier this season, Chicago went 6-1 on a similar Texas and West Coast swing.

Chicago, which broke the club record of 14 straight wins set in 1991-92, also stretched its home winning streak to 29.

It hasn't lost at the United Center since last March 24 — Jordan's first home game after coming out of retirement.

Charles Barkley had 20 points and 16 rebounds for the Suns, who are 2-2 so far on a club-record eight-game road trip. Phoenix is 3-4 since Cotton Fitzsimmons replaced Paul Westphal, who was fired on Jan. 16.

Barkley and Rodman took turns delighting and enraging fans and participants.

Barkley waved off Fitzsimmons when the coach tried to send in a substitute midway through the second quarter. Barkley did leave the game for two minutes; upon returning, he yelled at Jack Haley on the Bulls' bench. "You can't even guard my wife."

In the third quarter, Barkley gave Rodman a playful shove as they waited for a free-throw attempt.

With 2:11 left in the game and Phoenix trailing only 86-80, Rodman literally threw Hot Rod Williams to the court.

But Rodman wasn't called for his sixth foul and an upset Williams was hit with a technical foul. Rodman then scored his only four points in the final 1:34 to ice the victory.

Pippen scored nine points in the first quarter as Chicago took a 21-19 lead. The Suns shot 62 percent in the second quarter to go up 52-47 at halftime.

Star: Brown emerges as unlikely MVP team lead with six interceptions, pushing his career total to 13.

He added a big one in the NFC championship game, when his late pickoff of Brett Favre helped seal the Dallas victory.

None, though, will be remembered as well as the two he made Sunday night.

With Dallas leading 13-7 in the third quarter, the Steelers started from their own 36 and were near midfield, facing a third-and-9. Neil O'Donnell went into a shotgun formation and threw the ball straight at Brown, stationed at the Dallas 38.

The Cowboys defender returned the pass 44 yards before being pushed out of bounds at the Pittsburgh 18. Two plays later, Dallas was in the end zone, extending its lead to 20-7.

With 4:15 left to play, Pittsburgh took over again at its own 32. On second down, O'Donnell, working on a string of 11 completions in 12 attempts, went to the shotgun again, throwing this time for Corey Holliday.

Again, though, he found Brown, this time at the Steelers' 39. The cornerback brought the ball back to the Steelers' 6-yard line.

Brown knew he was an unlikely MVP.

"We've got so many stars, I just want to go out and play hard," he said. "My career has always been based on one or two plays."

This time they weren't just plays. They were game-turning interceptions.
